Letter to Attorney General
Re: Michael George Thevis

NOTE: Michael George Thevis currently is serving an 8 1/2 year sentence for conviction in Federal court on charges relating to numerous violations of the Interstate Transportation of Obscene Matters (ITOM) Statute. In January, 1977, a reliable confidential informant advised that [redacted] Investigation by our Atlanta Office confirmed that [redacted]

[redacted] In January, 1977, Thevis was transferred and applied for a medical furlough; however, it was denied.

On February 17, 1977, the above-mentioned informant advised that [redacted]

Our Atlanta Office has characterized Schott as a well-known figure in political circles in Atlanta who has had the reputation in the past of being an intermediary and "fixer." Schott was reportedly active in previous [redacted]

By LHM dated 2/18/77, the Attorney General was advised of the above facts, as well as the Director of the Bureau of Prisons. The Attorney General subsequently advised the Director that he had not been personally contacted by [redacted] regarding this matter and requested that the Bureau proceed with the investigation.

Based on the above and with the concurrence of the U. S. Attorney in Atlanta, [redacted] was interviewed by Bureau Agents regarding the above allegations. [redacted]

Letter to Attorney General
Re: Michael George Thevis

b6

It is noted that [redacted] and Schott have previously been interviewed regarding the above. The statements furnished by [redacted] and Schott corroborated to a large extent the information furnished by [redacted]; however, Schott denies that she made any offers or promises on behalf of Thevis to [redacted] for his assistance.

b6
b7C

On June 2, 1977, Assistant United States Attorney [redacted] advised that although the facts developed to date suggest a possible violation of Title 18, Section 203, United States Code (Bribery), by [redacted] he is holding in abeyance a final prosecutive opinion in this matter pending the outcome of contemplated prosecutive action against Michael George Thevis and others for violations of Title 18, Section 1962 C, United States Code (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations). OF THIS MEETING IS TO RESOLVE A CIVIL SUIT WHICH UNDERHILL CURRENTLY HAS PENDING IN FEDERAL COURT AGAINST THEVIS. AS BUREAU IS AWARE, UNDERHILL IS GOVERNMENT'S MAIN WITNESS AGAINST THEVIS AND EVIDENCE HAS BEEN DEVELOPED THAT THEVIS SOLICITED PERSONS TO KILL UNDERHILL. DURING CONVERSATIONS WITH THEVIS WHILE BOTH INDIVIDUALS WERE INCARCERATED TOGETHER AWAITING TRIAL IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA, ON AN ITAR ARSON MATTER, THEVIS MADE ADMISSIONS TO UNDERHILL CONCERNING ATTEMPTS TO KILL HIM. DURING THESE DISCUSSIONS THEVIS ALSO MADE REFERENCE TO OTHER ILLEGAL ACTS WHICH UNDERHILL HAD PERFORMED ON THEVIS' ORDERS.

UNDERHILL IS CURRENTLY REPRESENTED BY ATLANTA ATTORNEY [] [] RECENTLY [] ADVISED THE ATLANTA UNITED STATES ATTORNEY HANDLING THIS MATTER OF THEVIS' REQUEST FOR A "FACE TO FACE MEETING" WITH UNDERHILL CONCERNING HIS CIVIL SUIT. THIS MATTER WAS DISCUSSED WITH THE U. S. ATTORNEY IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA, AND THE U. S. ATTORNEY GAVE HIS CONSENT FOR UNDERHILL TO MEET WITH THEVIS. IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT THEVIS HAS TRIED IN THE PAST TO HAVE UNDERHILL KILLED, THE U. S. ATTORNEY REQUESTED THAT AUTHORITY BE OBTAINED TO MONITOR AND/OR RECORD THE CONVERSATIONS BETWEEN UNDERHILL AND THEVIS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SAFEGUARDING

UNDERHILL.

THEVIS IS CURRENTLY CONFINED AT THE SPRINGFIELD MEDICAL FACILITY AND ARRANGEMENTS ARE IN PROGRESS AT THIS TIME BETWEEN ASSISTANT U. S. ATTORNEY [REDACTED] AND THE WARDEN AT SPRINGFIELD SO THAT THEVIS' ATTORNEY CAN OBTAIN A PRIVATE ROOM IN THE CORRECTIONAL FACILITY FOR THE TWO INDIVIDUALS TO MEET.

b6
b7C

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE MEETING WERE ESTABLISHED IN SUCH A WAY THAT THEVIS' OWN ATTORNEY WILL REQUEST THE WARDEN AT SPRINGFIELD TO PROVIDE A PRIVATE ROOM FOR UNDERHILL AND THEVIS TO MEET IN. [REDACTED] IS MAKING ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE WARDEN SO THAT THIS REQUEST WILL BE AUTHORIZED; HOWEVER, IT IS HOPED THAT SINCE THEVIS' ATTORNEY HAS MADE THE INITIAL EFFORT THAT HE WILL NOT BE SUSPICIOUS THAT THE CONVERSATION WILL BE MONITORED.

b6
b7C

ASSISTANT U. S. ATTORNEY [REDACTED] CHIEF CRIMINAL DIVISION, ATLANTA, GEORIGIA, HAS BEEN THE ASSISTANT U. S. ATTORNEY PARTICIPATING IN THIS INVESTIGATION FOR THE LAST TWO YEARS AND IT IS HIS OPINION NO ENTRAPMENT IS INVOLVED. U. S. ATTORNEY [REDACTED] CONCURS IN THE USE OF THIS DEVICE AND IN FACT SUGGESTED THE MEETING AND THE USE OF THE DEVICE TO BUREAU AGENTS.

b6
b7C

IF AUTHORITY GRANTED RE THE USE OF THESE DEVICES, IT IS

ANTICIPATED THAT IT WILL BE NEEDED SOMETIME BETWEEN JUNE 10 AND JUNE 30, 1977.

KANSAS CITY IS REQUESTED TO ASSURE THAT SUFFICIENT EQUIPMENT IS AVAILABLE FOR THE USE OF TWO TYPES OF DEVICES. ONE DEVICE SHOULD BE INSTALLED ON UNDERHILL, EITHER IN A BELT OR SHOE, AND THE OTHER DEVICE SHOULD BE INSTALLED IF AT ALL POSSIBLE IN THE ROOM UTILIZED BY THEVIS AND UNDERHILL AT SPRINGFIELD FOR THEIR MEETING. THE DEVICE IN THE ROOM WILL ONLY BE UTILIZED WHEN THE TWO INDIVIDUALS CONCERNED ARE ACTUALLY IN THE ROOM ALONE AND NO ATTORNEY-CLIENT CONVERSATIONS WILL BE MONITORED. IT IS THE INTENT OF THE U. S. ATTORNEY TO STRUCTURE THE MEETING SO THAT UNDERHILL IS ACCOMPANIED BY HIS ATTORNEY FROM ATLANTA, GEORGIA, DURING THE INITIAL PORTION OF THE MEETING. UNDERHILL'S ATTORNEY WILL LEAVE THE ROOM AND ALLOW THE TWO INDIVIDUALS TO DISCUSS THEIR MATTERS IN PRIVATE. IT IS DURING THIS PERIOD THAT U. S. ATTORNEY IS CONCERNED FOR UNDERHILL'S SAFETY INASMUCH AS THEVIS HAS BECOME AWARE THAT UNDERHILL WILL BE THE PRINCIPAL WITNESS AGAINST HIM CONCERNING TWO MURDERS WHICH THEVIS ORDERED.

UNDERHILL CONCURS WITH THE U. S. ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER AND HAS GIVEN HIS CONSENT FOR USE OF SUCH RECORDING DEVICES.

UNDERHILL IS OF COURSE WILLING TO TESTIFY IN THIS REGARD AND U. S. ATTORNEY FEELS THAT ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED THROUGH THE RECORDING OF THEVIS' CONVERSATIONS CAN BE USED AGAINST THEVIS
AFTER HE TAKES THE STAND IN HIS DEFENSE.

IF AUTHORITY GRANTED, KANSAS CITY WILL IMMEDIATELY BE CONTACTED SO THAT COMPLETE DETAILS RE MEETING AND USE OF EQUIP-MENT CAN BE RESOLVED.

More than one of the above can apply in a case.

You are reminded that in those instances when the identity of the nonconsenting party is not known at the time of the request, a letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau within 30 days following termination of monitoring which will identify the nonconsenting party.

In the event a renewal of this authority is deemed warranted, submit your request with full justification (Manual of Rules and Regulations, Part II, Section 8, Page 3a) at least seven days prior to the expiration of the existing authority.

Q1 Metal tray with debris

Q2 Screwdriver shaft

ALSO SUBMITTED:

Coin

Result of examination:

Metallurgical examinations were conducted on the Q1 tray and debris, and on the Q2 screwdriver shaft.

The Q1 tray consists of stainless steel. Such trays are widely used in the food service/processing industry.

Examinations of the debris revealed that various metals had been subjected to extensive heating and melting. An extensive amount of melted lead was located in the debris. Lead is a primary constituent in such items as bullets, tire balance weights, fishing weights, key ring ornaments, etc. However, because of a large antimony content, it was concluded that the lead most likely was not melted exclusively from bullet lead.

Some of the melted metals in the debris are consistent with metals used in the manufacture of handguns. However, because of the corrosive properties of the metals involved, and the extensive use of those metals in the manufacture of other items, it is not possible by laboratory examination to determine the specific origin of these metals.

The Q1 tray contained coins which are apparently Mexican coins. The Q1 debris also apparently contained at least two cut keys which were similar in appearance to those used for General Motors automobiles. In addition, three small ruby-colored single-cut glass stones and three slightly larger yellowish-green single-cut glass stones were found embedded in primarily lead. Associated with the stones are mountings resembling a leaf and/or flower petals.

Examination of the Q2 screwdriver shaft revealed the identification markings "R.D.-" which had been placed on the shaft by use of a hand-held vibratory tool. The dash represents a letter which was partially obliterated by melted and corroded metal but which was concluded to be either a "U", "V", or "W". The Q2 screwdriver shaft also exhibited metallurgical characteristics which indicate that localized melting (approximately 1500°C or 2732°F) occurred in some areas and that in other areas the temperature attained was approximately 175° to 350° Centigrade (350° to 650° Fahrenheit) in approximate increments of 25°C (40°F).

Because of the anti-corrosive properties of stainless steel, the extensive melting and subsequent mixing of the debris metals, the lack of any recognizable reference metal, and the extensive metallurgical parameters involved in this case, it is not possible to determine the duration of immersion of specimens Q1 and Q2 in the river with specificity.

It is also noted, however, that in a metallurgical analysis of two or more common but dissimilar metals in contact in a corrosive environment, aluminum is second only to magnesium regarding propensity for corrosion. An "air-weight" model handgun frame is normally fabricated primarily from aluminum. If the aluminum was melted and was thereafter in contact with metals other than magnesium in the corrosive environment of the river, the aluminum would become the metal most vulnerable to corrosion.

Therefore, after a period of years in the river, it is not unreasonable to expect that little, if any, of the aluminum would remain.

The submitted specimens are being returned to your office under separate cover by registered mail.

Metallurgy Dictation

Metallurgical examinations were conducted of the Q1 tray and debris, and of the Q2 screwdriver shaft.

The Q1 tray consists of stainless steel. Such trays are widely used in the food service/processing industry.

Examinations of the debris revealed that various metals had been subjected to extensive heating and melting. An extensive amount of melted lead was located in the debris. Lead is a primary constituent in such items as bullets, tire balance weights, fishing weights, key ring ornaments, etc. However, because of a large antimony content, it was concluded that the lead most likely was not melted exclusively from bullet lead.

Some of the melted metals in the debris are consistent with metals used in the manufacture of handguns. However, because of the corrosive properties of the metals involved, and the extensive use of those metals in the manufacture of other items, it is not possible by laboratory examination to determine the specific origin of these metals.

The Q1 tray contained coins which are apparently Mexican coins. The Q1 debris also apparently contained at least two cut keys which were similar in appearance to those used for General Motors automobiles. In addition,

[REDACTED] DICTATION

b6
b7C

Examination of the Q2 screwdriver shaft revealed the identification markings "R. D. - " which had been placed on the shaft by use of a hand-held vibratory tool. The dash represents a letter which was partially obliterated by melted and corroded metal but which was concluded to be either a "U", "V", or "W". The Q2 screwdriver shaft also exhibited metallurgical characteristics which indicate that localized melting (approximately 1500°C or 2732°F) occurred in some areas and that in other areas the temperature attained was approximately 175° to 350° Centigrade (350° to 650° Fahrenheit) in approximate increments of 25°C (40°F).

Because of the anti-corrosive properties of stainless steel, the extensive melting and subsequent mixing of the debris metals, the lack of any recognizable reference metal, and the extensive metallurgical parameters involved in this case, it is not possible to determine the duration of immersion of specimens Q1 and Q2 in the river with specificity.

It is also noted, however, that in a metallurgical analysis of two or more common ~~but~~ dissimilar metals in contact in a corrosive environment, aluminum is second only to magnesium regarding propensity for corrosion. An "air-weight" model handgun frame is normally fabricated ~~from~~ primarily ^{from} aluminum. If the aluminum was melted and was thereafter in contact with metals other than magnesium in the corrosive environment of the river, the aluminum would become the metal most vulnerable to corrosion. Therefore, after a period of years in the river, it is not unreasonable to expect that little, if any, of the aluminium would remain.

RICO
OO: ATLANTA

Re Bureau airtel to Atlanta, 6/13/77; and Atlanta teletype to the Bureau, 5/27/77.

Enclosed for the Bureau are four elsur index cards reflecting persons recorded during consensual monitoring authorized in referenced airtel. Those individuals monitored were [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS, and ROGER DEAN
UNDERHILL.

For the information of the Bureau, on 6/13/77,
a body recorder was utilized on ROGER DEAN UNDERHILL during his conversations with captioned subject THEVIS at the Springfield Correctional Medical Facility located in Springfield, Missouri. During the recording of the conversations between UNDERHILL and THEVIS, limited conversations were also monitored between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was aware of consensual monitoring being done and had given his approval for this use, also. [REDACTED] is the attorney for UNDERHILL.

After reviewing the information obtained via the body recorder, AUSA [REDACTED] NDGA, Atlanta, Georgia, advised that some information of value was obtained from the use of this device. It should be noted that during the monitoring time, UNDERHILL and THEVIS engaged in a conversation concerning THEVIS' participation in the murder of KENNETH "JAP" HANNA in Atlanta, Georgia, on 11/13/70. THEVIS' language in the discussion with UNDERHILL indicates his participation in the crime, and

AUSA [] advised that the monitoring will be of extreme value for rebuttal purposes if THEVIS takes the stand in his defense at a later trial on the murder of HANNA. The USA in Atlanta, Georgia, is contemplating using HANNA's murder as one count in a RICO indictment of THEVIS to be obtained in the near future.

b6
b7C

This recording device was also utilized to provide protection for UNDERHILL, a government witness in this matter, while he was in THEVIS' presence. It is known that THEVIS has "an open contract" on UNDERHILL. Four attempts have been made on UNDERHILL's life to date.

AUSA [] also advised that other information obtained concerning other crimes by THEVIS would also be beneficial at the time of trial.

Re Atlanta telephone call to the Laboratory,
3/10/77.

For information of the Bureau, transmitted with this communication is a large aluminum tray, measuring approximately 20 x 24 inches, the contents of which were believed to be the following:

- (1) The remains of a Cadillac trunk lock.
- (2) The remains of a screw driver, bearing the initials "RDU."
- (3) Three (3) whole Mexican coins and portions of melted Mexican coins.
- (4) The remains of a melted .38 caliber revolver.

The Atlanta Division recently interviewed ROGER DEAN UNDERHILL, who advised that following the murder of KENNETH "JAP" HANNA by captioned subject, he was called by THEVIS to pull the lock from HANNA's 1970 Cadillac so that THEVIS could remove HANNA's car keys from his body, after the body had been placed in the trunk, following the killing.

UNDERHILL removed the lock with vise grip pliers after prying the Cadillac Medallion off with a screw driver. Later that day, he obtained the aluminum pan from THEVIS, and in it he melted down the above described items by using an acetylene torch. UNDERHILL stated that he placed the screw driver, trunk lock, some Mexican coins, and the gun in a pile on the tray and melted them down en masse. After melting all the items down, he threw the tray into the Chattahoochee River, on October 13, 1970.

This tray and the above contents were located by Bureau Agents utilizing scuba gear, 3/10/77.

The Lab is requested to perform the following examinations on these items:

(1) The molten metal mass located in the right rear portion of the tray should be examined to determine if this metal could have been used in the construction of a revolver. UNDERHILL advised that the gun could have been an air-weight model.

(2) The trunk lock should be examined to determine if it is, in fact, a car lock, and through comparison, if it can be matched with Cadillac trunk locks utilized in 1970.

(3) An analysis of the screw driver and the metal coins is requested so that Lab Personnel can verify that these items, as well as those believed to be gun parts, were subjected to extreme heat, which caused them to melt.

(4) The Lab is requested to perform any other experiments necessary in an effort to substantiate UNDERHILL's statements. It should be noted that the river bottom downstream from the location of this pan was stained heavily with rust and currents in the area averaged seven to eight miles per hour. The currents are extremely swift and turbulent in the recovery area, and the divers had to utilize a tether line to hold themselves against the strong flow of water. In addition, the average depth of the river, which is fresh water, in the recovery area, is about four (4) feet year round.

VI. LEGITIMATE BUSINESS CONNECTIONS OF SUBJECT

b6
b7C

On May 20, 1970, MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS furnished the following information to Special Agent [redacted] at Atlanta:

He is a stockholder in three corporations, the primary location of which is 267 Marietta Street, Northwest, Atlanta, Georgia. The corporations are as follows:

1. Peachtree News Company, Inc.;
2. Peachtree National Distributors, Inc.;
3. Pendulum Books, Inc.

He explained that Pendulum Books, Inc. was a publishing company and as such did not distribute books. Peachtree National Distributing Company, Inc. set up to distribute books published by Pendulum Book Company, Inc. and books published by that company only. He advised that Peachtree National Distributors, Inc., ships Pendulum Books into all 50 States of the United States and to seven or eight foreign countries, including England, France and Italy.

JRM/ac

MICHAEL THEVIS said that Peachtree News Company, Inc. was a corporation that distributes and ships publications of all other publishing companies with which he does business. He said this company does not distribute any books published by Pendulum Books, Inc.

MICHAEL THEVIS went on to state that he does not feel that any of the books and magazines shipped or distributed by his companies are "hard core pornography". He added that all of the material shipped by Peachtree National Distributors, Inc. and Peachtree News Company, Inc. has been tested in court. He explained that the test cases have for the most part been in Federal District Courts, although some of the material has been considered by some State courts. THEVIS explained that the publications shipped by his companies are sold openly by various book stores handling such publications and that as a matter of fact, all of the dealers doing business with him are told that he, THEVIS, will back them up, in any law suit or prosecution in connection with the sale of such publications. He said that some of the book dealers that he does business with, have taken him literally and that he was having to pay attorney fees for such dealers who had merchandise seized or dealers who had been arrested by local authorities in connection with the sale of books, magazines and publications shipped to a particular dealer by one of his companies.

MICHAEL THEVIS stated that in addition to his owning stock in the above indicated three corporations, he also owns 30 book stores located throughout the Southeastern United States. He named the states where he owned book stores as North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. He said that in addition he owned other real estate and businesses that would sustain him financially without operating the various publishing and distribution companies, if he "felt he was violating the law".

MICHAEL THEVIS said he owns business property at 123-25 Simpson Street in Atlanta, which he had leased to an unrecalled corporation. Also real estate on Techwood Avenue in Atlanta as well as the Saddle and Stirrup Restaurant at 106 Forsyth Street, Northwest, Atlanta. He also owns 1/3 interest in the Ambassador Restaurant, 3850 Roswell Road, Northeast, Atlanta, Georgia.

MICHAEL THEVIS stated he owns a printing company in Birmingham, Alabama, the name of which he declined to give, adding that this printing company had no connection with the printing of his adult books. He said he had just purchased a building on Decatur Street in the French Quarter of New Orleans, Louisiana, opposite the French Market.

MICHAEL THEVIS stated that within the past year he has formed an organization known as the American Publishers and Distributors Association for the purpose of policing the adult book publishers and distributors. He advised he felt that the members of this association should decide in their own right what was "hard core" literature, and what was not. He advised that every major publisher of adult type books with the exception of Reed Publishing Company, San Diego, California, belongs to this association.

He said that as President of this association he appeared before the U. S. President's Committee on Obscenity about three months ago, explaining the stand and feeling of this association. He said that the American Publishers and Distributors Association in April of 1970, held a conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

AT T-3 on February 28, 1970, advised that MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS now owns about 60 retail outlets for adult books. He said that [redacted]

IV. CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES

A. THE RESULTS OF FEDERAL PROSECUTION ON ITOM CHARGES

United States Attorney JOHN W. STOKES, JR., Northern District of Georgia, Atlanta, Georgia, advised on August 18, 1970 that the indictment returned by Federal Grand Jury, Atlanta, Georgia, on May 11, 1970, has been dismissed at the direction of U. S.

Department of Justice. Counts 1 and 15 of this indictment which concerned the Interstate Transportation of Obscene Matter, by subject THEVIS and his companies from Atlanta, Georgia, to Jacksonville, Florida, and Washington, D. C. were dismissed on May 11, 1970 and June 8, 1970. The other counts of this indictment concerning postal violation remained outstanding. Mr. STOKES advised that the Department requested that the Interstate Transportation of Obscene Matter (ITOM) violations in this indictment be dismissed inasmuch as there are indictments outstanding against THEVIS in the U. S. District Court, Jacksonville, Florida and U. S. District Court, New Orleans, Louisiana. The department has consented to proceeding with the indictment against THEVIS in Atlanta, Georgia on the postal violations but has requested the postal inspectors to obtain more recent violations involving material believed to be more obscene than that on which the postal violations are based.

The non jury trial of THEVIS before U. S. District Judge JOSEPH FISHER of Beaumont, Texas began in U. S. District Court, Jacksonville, Florida on October 29, 1970 and concluded on November 2, 1970. Judge FISHER stated at the conclusion of this trial that in view of the importance of this case, he would allow the Government and THEVIS until November 23, 1970 to file written briefs to support their stand in the matter. Judge FISHER added that each side in this case would then have until December 8, 1970 to answer the other's briefs. Judge FISHER stated that his decision as to the guilt or innocence of the subject or any legal comments would not be handed down until about January 1, 1971.

The New Orleans Division has advised that the trial of subject and co-defendants in U.S. District Court, New Orleans, Louisiana, would not come to trial prior to October, 1970.

ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis: Investigation by Atlanta, Ga. PD indicates KENNETH HERBERT HANNA was murdered by unknown person or persons on 11/13/70, possibly within two hours after he visited office of MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS in Atlanta on that date. Investigation by Atlanta PD has developed no suspects as to identity of actual killers of HANNA, however, THEVIS is considered a suspect in murder conspiracy. Summary of police investigation into HANNA murder set forth. No decision reached by USDJ, Jacksonville, Fla. in regard to ITOM charges pending against subject in the Northern District of Florida. Pre-trial conference set for 2/4/71 in order to set date for trial, probably to be held in the latter part of February, of subject on ITOM charges in USDC, New Orleans, La. Postponement of this trial was granted by USDJ, New Orleans, in view of fact same issues are currently pending before U. S. Supreme Court. Presentation of ITOM violation before Federal Grand Jury at Washington, D. C. is being held in abeyance pending results of current trial of THEVIS in USDC, Jacksonville, Fla. [REDACTED] b6

[REDACTED] Inland Empire Book Distributing Company, [REDACTED] b7c
California, has reportedly sold all interest in several adult book stores in Southern California to subject. Information regarding subject's financial interest in various businesses and other assets as of 6/30/69 set forth. IV. CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES

A. MURDER OF KENNETH HERBERT HANNA, aka "Jap"

SA [REDACTED] of the Atlanta Division has maintained close liaison with Detectives [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] Homicide Squad, Atlanta, Georgia Police Department, between November 17, 1970 and January 22, 1971. A summary of investigation conducted to date by the Atlanta Police Department relative to the murder of KENNETH HERBERT HANNA is set forth as follows:

at about 7:20 AM on November 13, 1970. He was alone at the time and left in a 1970 Cadillac, gold with black vinyl top, bearing Florida license 24WW515. HANNA informed [redacted] that he was going to visit MIKE THEVIS [redacted]

b6

THEVIS later informed police that HANNA arrived at his, THEVIS' place of business, at approximately 7:45 AM on November 13, 1970 and remained with him for about five to ten minutes, after which he departed saying he had another appointment. THEVIS appeared vague as to the subject matter discussed between he and HANNA, indicating generally that it concerned tax matters or problems relating thereto. THEVIS reportedly accompanied HANNA to his automobile parked in a nearby parking lot. A police informant [redacted] THEVIS.

[redacted], New York, New York, [redacted] pornography business with HANNA was contacted by the Atlanta Police Department at which time [redacted] indicated that he [redacted] HANNA [redacted] on November 13, 1970. [redacted] reportedly [redacted] HANNA on November 13, 1970, however, later, [redacted] contacted [redacted] HANNA as planned. According to available information [redacted] and [redacted] Information developed by the Atlanta Police Department indicates that a very large white male in his [redacted] had been utilized by [redacted] and HANNA to [redacted] This white male was believed to be from New Jersey or New York and was referred to by HANNA and [redacted] as [redacted]

HANNA's body was subsequently found by Atlanta police officers on November 17, 1970 in the trunk of his automobile parked at the Atlanta airport. HANNA had been shot three times through the chest and once through the head. The parking ticket for HANNA's vehicle indicated that the car had been parked at 10:03 AM on November 13, 1970. It is believed the killer was three feet or less from HANNA at the time the shots were fired. Three of the bullets were hollow point and made of lead and cannot be identified. The fourth slug appears to be an ordinary .38 caliber. HANNA's pants were pulled down around his ankles. HANNA was believed to be carrying a large sum of money, $20,000 or more, at the time he left home, however, investigators found no money on his body.

Keys to the vehicle were found in the ignition, however, the lock on the car trunk was punched out.

Investigation by the Atlanta Police Department has failed to produce a solution to this case to date. Various motives have been advanced by police as a basis for HANNA's murder which is believed to be connected with the various criminal elements believed to be competing in the pornography field. THEVIS is suspected of complicity by the Atlanta Police Department in this murder although no evidence has been developed to date indicating that THEVIS was personally responsible for shooting HANNA.

[redacted] and who resides at [redacted] Atlanta, Georgia, was interviewed by the Atlanta, Georgia Police Department on November 24, 1970 and after lengthy interrogation made the following admissions with the understanding that this information would not be used against him or made available to Florida authorities:

DIBERNARDO further advised that MIKE THEVIS is the owner of Peachtree National Distributors, 267 Marietta, Northwest, Atlanta, Georgia.

B. RESULTS OF FEDERAL PROSECUTION ON ITOM CHARGES

The Jacksonville Division has advised that on January 12, 1971, the files of the United States Attorney's Office, Northern District of Florida, Jacksonville, Florida, were reviewed and it was determined that no decision has been obtained as yet from Judge JOHN J. FISHER in the ITOM case against THEVIS, currently pending before the court.

The New Orleans Division has advised that Assistant U. S. Attorney [redacted] New Orleans, advised on January 14, 1971 that the ITOM case pending against THEVIS at New Orleans, had been postponed for an undetermined period. [redacted] stated that pre-trial conference has been set for February 4, 1971 in order to set date for trial, probably in the latter part of February. The postponement was granted by U. S. District Judge ALVIN RUBEN, New Orleans, as he stated the U. S. Supreme Court has same issues currently before it.

The Washington Field Office has advised that presentation of ITOM violation by that division to a Federal Grand Jury at Washington, D. C. is being held in abeyance pending results of the current trial of THEVLS at Jacksonville, Florida. Assistant U. S. Attorney [redacted] U. S. Attorney's Office, Washington, D. C., has advised that he has received instructions from the Department of Justice not to indict in this matter at the present time because of similar indictments in other jurisdictions.

██████████ stated the individuals involved were claiming harassment by the Government in that a defense could not be adequately prepared since the defendant had been indicted in so many trials.

C. ACTIVITIES OF SUBJECT IN LAS VEGAS, NEVADA AREA

The Los Angeles Division has advised that Sergeant [redacted] Intelligence Division, Los Angeles Police Department advised on September 29, 1970 that information has come to his attention that one [redacted] a pornography dealer from Las Vegas, may be using "muscle" in Las Vegas in an effort to keep other pornography dealers from making inroads into his Las Vegas market. [redacted] stated that [redacted] may be associated in some way with MIKE THEVIS of Atlanta, Georgia and described [redacted] as a white male, approximately [redacted] years old, 6 feet tall. [redacted] stated that he had no other information regarding this matter at this time.

JOHN KENNETH DAWALT, who has been identified as an associate of THEVIS' during his (THEVIS') early start in the pornography field, is described as follows:

Race	White
Sex	Male
Date of birth	May 30, 1910
Place of birth	Dryridge, Kentucky
Weight	240 pounds
Height	5' 11"
Hair and eyes	Gray
Arrests	Has arrest record with the Dade County, Florida, Department of Public Safety dating back to May of 1930 for charges of shoplifting, impersonating a Federal officer, pimp, possession of burglary tools, stolen property and credit cards and mail fraud.

DAWALT according to records, Dade County Department of Public Safety, used the aliases of JOHN KENNETH DUES, HAYDEN RUSSELL, JOHN WILLIAM MC GUIRE, JOHN PATTERSON, JOHN KENNETH PATTERSON, ROBERT SAMUEL BATTLE and has FBI number 495-293.

On February 18, 1971, U. S. Probation Officer, Miami, Florida, advised JOHN KENNETH DAWALT, white male, date of birth May 30, 1910, was known to him. DAWALT on April 29, 1970, received a 5-year sentence in custody of Attorney General under split sentence provisions wherein DAWALT only had to serve 60 days in custody and then placed on 5 years probation, after DAWALT had entered guilty plea to one count of a 10-count indictment charging him with mail fraud by U. S. Post Office authorities, Miami, Florida. According to the U. S. Probation Officer, Miami, DAWALT is presently confined at Diagnostic Classification Center, Jackson, Georgia, as a result of DAWALT's receiving a one-year sentence on January 5, 1971, on local charges in Fulton County, Atlanta, Georgia. The U. S. Probation Officer, Miami, further advised DAWALT has two pending Federal mail fraud cases against him at Atlanta and New York.

IV. CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES

A. MURDER OF KENNETH HERBERT HANNA, ALSO KNOWN AS "JAP"

On January 27, 1971, a conference was held with Detective [redacted] Atlanta Police Department, and SA [redacted] regarding the murder of HANNA. [redacted] advised his investigation has developed very little new evidence and suggested that Bureau agents interview ROGER UNDERHILL, employee of MIKE THEVIS, and [redacted] and [redacted] HANNA's.

On January 28, 1971, [redacted] was interviewed at [redacted] in Atlanta. [redacted] was very amiable and friendly in the interview but had little to relate. [redacted] related that he had known HANNA [redacted] years and had first met HANNA [redacted] and [redacted] HANNA and others. [redacted] said [redacted] HANNA, but [redacted] and [redacted] and [redacted] and [redacted] MIKE THEVIS. [redacted] stated that he has currently heard rumors that MIKE THEVIS may have had

B. RESULTS OF FEDERAL PROSECUTION ON INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF OBSCENE MATTER CHARGES

On April 21, 1971, U. S. Attorney JOHN L. BRIGGS, Jacksonville, Florida, advised that no decision has been rendered concerning a trial date for THEVIS regarding pending Interstate Transportation of Obscene Matter (ITOM) charges in that city.

On March 27, 1971, the Texas Highway Patrol (THP) stopped a tractor-trailer rig near Odessa, Texas, and determined the papers regarding the load were not in order. Subsequently the THP determined the trailer was loaded with approximately 15,000 pounds of magazines and books of pornography nature.

Investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) determined the shipment was loaded at Los Angeles with stops enroute and final destination being Peachtree News Agency, 238 Earle Street, Atlanta, Georgia, which is an address for THEVIS' businesses in that city.

A hearing was held in U. S. District Court (USDC), El Paso, Texas, April 1, 1971, regarding the seizure of the above load by Bureau agents and USDC Judge ERNEST A. GUINN upheld seizure of the material and stated he "considered the officers derelict in their duty had they not seized the material". This matter was presented to Federal Grand Jury, El Paso, Texas, on [REDACTED]

V. LEGITIMATE ENTERPRISES

On March 15, 1971, AT T-3 advised that he had heard rumors that MIKE THEVIS is present owner of Star Distributors, Incorporated, of New York City. AT T-3 has previously advised that the Star Distributors has taken over most of the "art-type" book stores in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and were also taking over a quantity of book stores in New York City.

[redacted] stated [redacted] Liverpool Distributors, Inc., decided to use titles of old books which had sold well and reissue these books. This line of books were to be known as the new-old gold line and it was [redacted] decision not to distribute these books through his normal adult book distributors but to use another means of distribution such as through bus stations and other paperback book outlets.

b7C

[redacted] stated [redacted] Liverpool Distributors, Inc., the Liverpool line was distributed through Parliament News. [redacted] stated [redacted] proceeded to change his credit terms such as changing from 90 days to 60 days and then to 30 days. He stated [redacted] would not sell his new-old gold line to the adult book dealers. [redacted] stated the adult book dealers compared notes and found that [redacted] was giving different discounts to different dealers. [redacted] stated shortly thereafter publishers started putting out books which looked like the Liverpool books. He stated in April, 1971, Liverpool Distributors, Inc., brought suit in the Superior Court for the State of California for the City and County of San Francisco against a number of adult book dealers. [redacted] stated this suit was thrown out of court inasmuch as the Superior Court ruled that they had no jurisdiction against persons residing outside the State of California.

[redacted] stated Peachtree News Company and other companies associated with [redacted] and MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS have purchased no books or other materials from Liverpool Distributors since January 1, 1971, and the only business they have had with them was to make returns of items to Liverpool Distributors, Inc.

[redacted] advised the suit filed by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., was for the purpose of attempting to stop THEVIS and others from publishing books which resembled the books published by Liverpool. [redacted] stated there is presently dispute between Liverpool Distributors, Inc., and the adult book companies connected with THEVIS concerning the amount of money owed to Liverpool Distributors, Inc.

[redacted] stated he had told the attorney for Liverpool Distributors, Inc., that Liverpool had not given credit for books which had been returned to properly offset against amount owed. He stated he had also made the statement that he intended to file an anti-trust action against Liverpool Distributors, Inc., and the suit by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., was dropped. He stated there has been no effort to collect by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., or others connected with them from the adult book companies connected with THEVIS. [redacted] pointed out that Liverpool Distributors, Inc., had changed their credit terms and had not treated all persons they were dealing with on the same level. He stated he also represents Satellite News in Houston, Texas, Rivergate News, New Orleans, Louisiana, and Allstar News Company, St. Louis, Missouri, and none of these concerns have been contacted by representatives of XYZ Collection Agency. He stated XYZ Collection Agency has made no contact with Peachtree News, Peachtree National, or Pendulum Books, which are all also represented by him and are connected with MICHAEL G. THEVIS.

[] advised the only time he has any recollection of being approached by person who made threatening demands was during the 1970 convention of the adult book dealers in Los Angeles, California, during this convention a man claiming he was sent by [] to contact THEVIS concerning THEVIS' account dispute with [] stated that on this occasion they had sent this man away and had heard nothing further concerning this matter. He stated during this convention there were a large delegation of police officers observing the convention and he was confident the man claiming to be sent by [] would not be in a position to have done anything.

b7C

[] advised Peachtree News received a monthly statement from Liverpool Distributors, Inc., concerning the alleged amount owed them. He stated there is a discrepancy concerning the amount claimed owed by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., and the amount claimed by Peachtree News. [] stated this discrepancy is due to the failure of Liverpool Distributors, Inc., to credit for returned items. [] stated that according to their records, Peachtree News had returned all of the $20,691.84 which was claimed by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., with exception of amount of $455.16. He stated in connection with the Allstar News Company, Liverpool Distributors, Inc., claimed amount owed of $12,338.82, however, their figures reflected a return and total owed was $4,603.62. He stated as to Satellite News, Liverpool Distributors, Inc., claimed amount owed as $20,734.74 whereas their figures reflect a figure of $5,056.34. [] stated in connection with the Rivergate News Company, Liverpool Distributors, Inc., claimed amount owed as $6,102.58, and their figures reflect a sum of $3,304.71. [] pointed out that the last figures as reflected in their records as to amount owed is contested by them inasmuch as Liverpool Distributors, Inc., had used different terms to different dealers. He stated there have been no returns made to Liverpool Distributors, Inc., since approximately August, 1971. He stated reason no additional returns had been made to Liverpool Distributors, Inc., was the fact that they had failed to receive credit for returns which had been made. He stated in

b6

round figures they presently have boxed ready for return to Liverpool Distributors, Inc., approximately $3,500.00 worth of additional material.

[] advised that since approximately the first month of 1971, companies represented by him have done no business with the Liverpool Distributors, Inc., other than make returns of items sent to them. He stated companies represented by him had received Liverpool products through Parliament prior to [] coming to Atlanta approximately 5 years ago. He stated that subsequent to that time, Liverpool distributed through their own facilities. [] stated that the average monthly gross purchases for all entities of Peachtree prior to January, 1971, from Liverpool Distributors, Inc., would be less than 2 percent of their purchases. He stated that subsequent to January, 1971, no purchases made from Liverpool Distributors, Inc.

[] stated that it is the custom of the adult book industry for an agreement to be made with a company to send a certain number of each book they publish and then the individual may reorder additional copies of the published items. He stated Peachtree has always operated with the right of return on all purchases.

[] stated that deliveries from Liverpool Distributors, Inc., as well as from other publishers have shortages which happen by human error. He stated as an example the Rivergate News Company was able to offset a shortage of $78 against the claim owed by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., and he advised shipments are not checked in their entirety so it is impossible to state whether or not Liverpool Distributors, Inc., had billed their orders accurately and, therefore, it would be impossible to substantiate most shortages if they occurred by comparison of bill of lading or order forms or canceled checks.

[] advised that in the industry spot checks are made on deliveries and that the warehouse people may count one box of a shipment to determine whether or not the items are received. He stated the warehouse people then dispense the items to their various dealers. [] advised it would be impossible to say whether or not they paid for items not received, however, he can definitely state that they had not knowingly paid for items which had not been received.

[] advised that in the dealings with Liverpool Distributors, Inc., they never paid in advance for shipments,

b6
b7C

however, the freight charges were sometimes sent collect. [] stated that in their dealings with Liverpool Distributors, Inc., the terms when they first started were 90 days, however, [] subsequently changed the terms while attempting to develop separate distribution through independent distributors. However, the changes were only for payment in a less period of time. He advised Liverpool Distributors, Inc., never charged any carrying charges, just requiring the amount to be paid in full in a given number of days.

b6

[] advised that prior to January, 1971, Peachtree had paid Liverpool Distributors, Inc., according to their agreement in the relative course of business and that their account was always current. He stated in April, 1971, Liverpool Distributors, Inc., filed suit against Peachtree and other dealers and it is connection with this suit that there has been any disagreement over payment.

[] stated that in the latter part of 1970, [] had visited in Atlanta and that he [] had gone to lunch with [] stated the only other representative or person contacting Peachtree for Liverpool Distributors, Inc., was one []. He stated [] West Coast News [] but approximately [] years ago [] also began selling for other publishers and assisting in other publishers accounts. He stated [] would occasionally pick up a check for amount owed to Liverpool Distributors, Inc.

[] advised there has never been any threat or intimidation by Liverpool or the XYZ Collection Agency made to Peachtree. He stated the only action taken has been institution of law suits by Liverpool Distributors, Inc. He pointed out that to his knowledge they have ceased doing business with Liverpool Distributors, Inc., in January, 1971, and at that time XYZ Collection Agency was not working with Liverpool Distributors to their knowledge. He stated he had never had any previous information concerning XYZ Collection Agency.

[] advised that in connection with the law suit in April, 1971, by Liverpool Distributors, Inc., Peachtree was not legally connected with Piedmont Book Distributors, which [] however, Piedmont purchased from Peachtree but not on an exclusive basis. He stated Peachtree had several stores in South Carolina which were serviced by Piedmont. He stated the same situation exists as to Seaboard

News, which [redacted] and that Seaboard serviced some stores for Peachtree in Florida. He pointed out the Sunshine State Book [redacted] or [redacted] which is presently out of existence.

He reiterated that to his knowledge Peachtree has had no contact with XYZ Collection Agency nor did they have any knowledge concerning the XYZ Collection Agency.

OBSCENITY DENIEDCourt Hears Thevis Appeal

By NICK TAYLOR

Lawyers for Atlanta adult book dealer Michael G. Thevis, appealing a 1971 Jacksonville, Fla., conviction for interstate transportation of obscene materials, argued Tuesday that the materials involved are not obscene.

The appeal was taken under advisement by a three-judge panel of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting in Atlanta.

Thevis' defense contended in arguments before the appeals panel that the 12 magazines covered in the Jacksonville indictment are not obscene when compared with materials judged not obscene by the U. S. Supreme Court in 37 separate cases since May, 1967.

The defense argued that the 12-count indictment did not properly advise Thevis of the charges against him, and that he was not charged with personal knowledge of the alleged transportation.

The defense also contended that the federal obscenity law is unconstitutional, and that even if the materials are obscene, U. S. Justice department prosecutors failed to prove it.

That claim was based on the government's failure to introduce an expert witness to testify to contemporary community standards, one of the three Supreme Court tests of obscenity.

Another 5th Circuit panel ruled that the government must produce expert witnesses to testify on all three parts of the obscenity test, but that decision is to be reviewed by the entire 5th Circuit.

Government arguments Tuesday centered on the use of expert witnesses.

Justice department attorneys contended that expert witnesses can't testify on contemporary community standards since "there is no such thing as an average Mid-United States," and charged the magazines were obscene by most standards.

'SAYS HE'S USED AS 'SCAPEGOAT'

'Porno Kingpin' Title

Irks Thevis

Atlanta book dealer Michael Thevis has been convicted in federal court of interstate shipment of obscene material. Government officials have said Thevis is a national pornography 'kingpin.' Thevis says the government is harrasing him. He talked with Constitution reporter Jeff Nesmith for this week's "QUOTE."

QUESTION: You have been described as a "pornography kingpin." Do you take exception to that description?

ANSWER: Yes, in the sense that while I have been in past years involved with adult material, I certainly was not the biggest adult dealer in the country. And I also own and participate in maybe 20 different types of businesses, everything from a trucking company to a furniture making company to plastics to gift service to . . . everything. Of course, I don't get credit for anything like that. Just the adult material.

Q: Of all your interests which is the biggest? Is the adult material business larger than, say, the trucking company.

A: Oh, of course, not. Dollar volume, the adult business is the smallest, and particularly with today's market.

I think I ~~get~~ called the pornography kingpin for a number of reasons: One is I once helped form and headed an association of adult book sellers and publishers and for the lack of good sense and not being able to find a national director, I made several speeches all around the country. At each and every one of these meetings I took a real stab at the government and said what I thought about what freedoms we should be able to exercise and so forth. I intimated that possibly the Nixon administration was using the adult field as a scapegoat to hide its own shortcomings and take the people's minds off things like Vietnam, hunger and so forth.

And I do feel that way. It's an easy thing for anyone running for political office, including dogcatcher, to say, "Down with pornography," and he's for apple pie and motherhood. It's just an easy soapbox. It seems to cost no money and it gets the people's eye and it's used time and time again.

You take a man like the U.S. attorney here (U.S. Attorney John Stokes, who I think has a personal vendetta against me — and I don't even know the gentleman, really. . .

Q: Why do you think he has a personal vendetta against you if you don't even know him.

A: Because of the things that he's said and the things that he's done. At cocktail parties and associating with mutual friends I found out that Stokes — and I really shouldn't mention his name because I don't want to give him any more publicity that he's got — that the U.S. attorney has been telling people, quote, that Mike Thevis has admitted that he was a part of the Mafia to FBI agents, that Mike Thevis has a way of involving himself with people whose houses mysteriously burn down, things like that, which are not so. Obviously if I were with the Mafia I would not tell the FBI. I can only say that we have some people in high places who are looking to get to much higher places, who are complete idiots.

I have seen them do it to other people and I suspect that what they are doing to me is building me up with a phony reputation so that they can pick me up.

I have friends who are saying that the U.S. attorney has his eyes on becoming the first Republican governor of Georgia and he has about as much chance as I have in becoming the first Republican governor.

I do want to say this for the record, right here and now: I have never been, am not now and never will be involved with anyone that I know to be in organized crime or the Mafia or, as I call them, "funny people." On the contrary, over the years, people have come to this very office in an attempt to involve themselves in some way with this business and I have never let them so much as put their foot in the door.

Q: How many adult news-stands have you owned in Atlanta?

A: I think 14 or somewhere around that area. I have since seen fit to remove myself as much as possible from the adult book business, mainly because of the government harassment, and I say harassment because I feel that that is all it is. I still feel that an adult person has the right to read or look at any damn thing that he damn well pleases, provided it is not pushed on him or offered to minors. I don't think that we should have the right to put a photograph of a nude woman on a billboard so that everyone would have to see it, but I don't see why we shouldn't be allowed to go into a store that is marked very widely as adult material if we want to.

To me the adult book industry today is about where the liquor industry was maybe 20 years ago — where everybody involved in it today is no good and dirty and so forth — and now, of course, liquor is taken for granted. I mean almost everybody likes to booze it up every once in a while.

Q: Do you think that 20 years from now, people will visit their corner adult book stores and buy an adult book or magazine, like boozing it up every once in a while?

A: I think this, I think that it will be far sooner than 20 years from now. I may be in prison, but I think that it won't take an awful lot more time before the people in this country wake up to the fact that the government, at least the federal government, should not be involved in legislating morality or ideas. I think that it will be as accepted as the liquor business is, that's all. I mean, today the liquor business is not allowed to deal with children —

I am not saying that we are not going through a moral decay, I don't know that we are or that we aren't. As a layman, I figure that we probably are, but I don't think that the way to handle moral decay is to sweep everything underneath the mat, so to speak, and hope it goes away.

You know there are kids today who are 15 or 16 years old and don't even know how birth comes about and yet their parents, their irate parents, run around and say they shouldn't talk about sex in schools, they shouldn't teach it. Well, I don't know how they expect these kids to learn. They want to put it all under the table and wash it all out.

Many local district attorneys and U.S. prosecutors and everyone would have you believe that all of the adult material today is made strictly for the use of children and minors and so forth. Well, that is stupid, that is just absolutely stupid when our government report, which cost $2 million, says otherwise.

The kids today have no need for buying adult material, the people who buy adult material are my age and older, 40 and over, and the reason is quite obvious. They were born and taught differently than what the kids today are. The kids are very lax about sex books. They take it or leave it. They could care less. Their attitude is that you must be out of your mind to pay $3 or $4 or maybe $7 for a magazine depicting the human body, showing acts of intercourse or fellatio or anything, because their attitude is that if they want to see a naked girl, they tell their girlfriend to take her clothes off.

Q: Are these the people you count on to support the adult book industry of the future?

A: Of course not, they will never buy adult books and this is one reason that the adult book industry is fading and will fade. And if it were legalized today, it would fade out 10 times faster.

There are people today that I think that love-making can only be done in a prone position or should be and there are those people that have feelings about making love in some other manner and they have guilt complexes about it and I think that these things should be dispelled.

Almost everyone who professes to be against dirty books and dirty magazines and so forth, all of us at some time or another, has been involved in some sort of — for the lack of a better word — illicit sex play. And while I am not professing that it should be done openly on the street or in public, I see no reason why people who are trying to better themselves and educate themselves should not be afforded the opportunity to see and to understand all sorts of adult material and new ideas about sex.

Q: If you don't think people should be allowed to "do it in public," as you put it, how can you argue that the government should allow you to do what you want to do — sell adult books? Are you for control over behavior so long as it does not control yours?

A: Personally, I couldn't care less because I have over the last three or four years been further and further removing myself from that end of my business. But as a lay person, I would like to be afforded the same rights that any other person is afforded when he seeks his religion or anything else and, of course, that is the First Amendment.

All I am saying is that, fine, there can be controls — such as it should not be offered to consumers that don't care to see it. It should not be offered to children and it should not be pandered in any way.

I would even go further and if I were interested in expanding in this business, I would hope the government would put certain controls on what people could see and what people could not see. And that's because the less you show them, the more they want to see.

I don't know if you know it or not, but in January, the state of Oregon saw fit to legalize all pornography and prostitution and so forth. There was a great influx of stores. Now we come along and it is only April, only four short months away, and I would say that a great many stores that opened up the first of the year have already closed their doors. Because people, once they get, once they are able to satiate their interests, they are no longer interested. This is what has proved to be true in Denmark and other Scandinavian countries.

If you want to fight moral decay, and so forth, well take the kids, by God, and teach them. Teach them the good things in life and show them the other things. They are going to find out about sex anyway, whether it is in the streets or the gutter or whether it is in school. To me, it has got to be 100 times better to find out from teachers who know what they are doing, than from a pervert or someone who is demented in some form.

Q: Do you actually publish adult material, or just sell it?

A: I don't publish now, but I did at one time.

Q: The material which you published, did it depict sexual intercourse?

A: Some of it did, yes.

Q: What about perversion?

A: Well, I am not sure any more what we call perversion. I would say that it was a good possibility that it did.

Q: If a kid happens to get hold of one of your books and it depicts perversion, isn't he learning about sex from a pervert?

A: No, no. We never would have shown perversion in a sense that this is the proper thing to do but rather the other side of the scale. This is the improper thing to do; I know that sounds like I am trying to evade the question, to get around it and give an okay to what I have done.

Q: Isn't it possible, as a matter of fact, to clothe things in an attitude that this is not the thing to do — but here it is, you can go ahead and look at it? It still sells, doesn't it?

A: Well, I don't know what you call perverted.

Q: How did you happen to be involved in this adult book business?

A: There was a matter of need and demand. I was operating in the city of Atlanta. I had gone to Tech and the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia and during the summer I had purchased a small newsstand. One day I woke up and realized that 90 per cent of my sales were coming from 10 per cent of my display. The display was sex oriented and so I said, "The devil with it," threw out everything else and opened up all adult book stores.

Q: You said earlier that this never accounted for a large portion of your income...

A: No. It used to account for a very large portion of my income, but the adult book business, ever since I got into it, has been on the downgrade, on a down swing.

Q: Now you are involved in other things, trucking and so forth. Is this from money you have invested from the adult book business?

A: Well, I would be silly to sit here and deny that I did not diversify some of the income I had from adult oriented material. Of course, I did. But I also took profits from a trucking company and went into a plastics company and so forth.

Q: How do you describe yourself? Are you a crusader for more liberal laws? Or a businessman who has been caught in what you consider an injustice? Or just a guy who made a hell of a lot of money in the adult book and magazine business? Or what?

A: Well, I consider myself to be all of those things, to be candid with you.

Thevis Convicted In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An alleged Atlanta dealer in pornographic material, a New Orleans magazine-distributing agency and the agency's manager were convicted in federal court Saturday on obscenity charges.

Michael G. Thevis of Atlanta, the Rivergate News Agency and Gary Van Gundy of New Orleans were convicted on two counts of a four-count indictment charging them with wilfully transporting obscene material through interstate commerce.

Defense lawyers said an appeal will be filed.

SATURDAY'S conviction was the fourth time that Thevis has been convicted in federal court on similar charges. He was convicted once previously in New Orleans, and in Jacksonville and Atlanta on various counts of interstate transportation of obscene materials.

All of the cases are on appeal in the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Thevis also was served an indictment in February in Atlanta on a five-count charge alleging the interstate transportation of obscene films from a Thevis-owned Los Angeles corporation to movie houses in Jacksonville.

THE EIGHT-MAN, four-woman jury received the New Orleans case late in the day Friday. After a couple of hours of deliberation, they recessed until 10 Saturday morning. The verdict came at about 2 p.m.

The trial lasted four weeks.

A mistrial was declared Wednesday for a fourth defendant, Frederick E. Lund of New Orleans. He was stricken with a heart attack during the trial.

Thevis and Van Gundy remain free on bond pending appeal. A $5,000 bond was posted for Thevis, and $10,000 for Van Gundy.

No Cases For Crime Jury Yet

By NICK TAYLOR

A special federal grand jury, convened in January to investigate organized crime in metropolitan Atlanta and north Georgia, has not met since its organizational meeting.

The U.S. district attorney's office in Atlanta has yet to take a case before the four-month-old grand jury.

U.S. Dist. Atty. John W. Stokes Jr. said, "The cases that lie within the province of that kind of a grand jury have proven to take longer to develop than we at first anticipated."

"Our investigations haven't reached the state where we feel that calling witnesses before the grand jury would move toward disposition of any cases."

Stokes said the grand jury, hampered by organizational problems that will see its foreman going to Europe for two months this summer, would meet May 31 to hear evidence in a labor racketeering case.

Otherwise, a smorgasbord of organized crime activities that Stokes proposed to take before the grand jury remains in the hands of Justice department investigators.

Stokes listed 12 prospective subjects for the grand jury, including income tax evasion, several varieties of mail fraud and investment of funds from organized crime into legitimate business.

The grand jury was initially called to continue a previous grand jury's investigation into the federal tax activities of Atlanta adult book dealer Michael G. Thevis.

The life of a federal grand jury is 18 months. The previous grand jury's findings on Thevis have not been released.

The present grand jury was originally slated to look also into pornography, gambling, narcotics and bootlegging activities and fraudulent land sales schemes.

Another special investigative grand jury, to be convened later this month in connection with heroin sales investigations by the new federal Office for Drug Abuse Law Enforcement here, will likely take over the narcotics probe where heroin is involved.

Stokes declined elaboration on the labor racketeering scheme to be brought before the grand jury when it meets again at the end of the month.

Evidence will be presented by J. Robert Sparks, head of the Justice Department's Organized Crime Task Force in Atlanta.

Thevis Draws 2nd Sentence Of 5 Years

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Michael G. Thevis of Atlanta, called by the Justice Department one of the nation's top dealers in pornography, has been sentenced to five years in prison for transporting obscene matter across state lines.

U.S. District Judge Frederick Heebe sentenced Thevis, the corporation he heads and one of his associates Friday. They were found guilty by a jury June 3.

Rivergate News Agency of New Orleans, allegedly owned by Thevis, was fined $10,000 and Gary Van Gundy, manager of the news agency, was sentenced to 18 months in prison.

Defense attorneys said they will appeal to the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Heebe then released the two men on bonds of $5,000 each pending appeal.

Thevis is under another five-year sentence, one imposed several months ago in New Orleans by U.S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry. Thevis was found guilty of similar charges in Christenberry's court.

Blue Movies No Path To Fast Buck—Thevis

Fulton's top prosecutors plan civil suits against dealers in pornography. Page 1-C. Four witnesses refuse to testify at grand jury hearing on Mike Thevis. Page 4-B.

By JIM STEWART

At least 12 fully equipped sound studios are producing blue movies, skin flicks and a triple-X featurettes in Atlanta, the man who made pornography a household word revealed Tuesday.

"And all of them are just out for a fast buck when there's not one to be made," said Mike Thevis.

Thevis, a super-rich publishing executive who now dabbles in furniture marketing and was once the "king of pornography", said hard core skin flicks using local talent are enjoying only moderate success in Atlanta.

"Hell, nowadays anybody with a brownie movie camera can produce his own sex shows. The market's flooded and production costs eat up the profits. I'm glad I got out of it when I did," he said.

Thevis, still facing up to 12 years in federal prison on obscenity charges, said the city's pornography market has been over-exaggerated and the profits made in the business blown out of proportion.

"If you listened to the government, they'd have you believe that millions of dollars have passed through these hands," he said holding up his fists, "well, if that's true I'd sure like to know where it all is because I never saw it."

"If I didn't have the sense to get out of it when I saw the market folding, I couldn't have gone into other businesses and had the money to fight them," Thevis said.

Thevis, while claiming no ties to the blue movie industry now, says the products in Atlanta are hampered by the relatively small market and high production costs.

"It cost them something like $4,000 to $10,000 to make one of those skin flicks like you see downtown and about the most they're going to make is around $20,000. And then they have the distributors, technicians and overhead to pay off."

Thevis said much of the talent used in Atlanta-based blue movies is local and cheap.

"Like I remember this one they made on a houseboat up at Lake Lanier recently that featured a University of Georgia football player, who was very proud of himself, and some girls that worked for next to nothing."

"I don't know why they do it. They've all got their reasons. Some do it for fun, others for money and some just because of the adventure involved. Or maybe they're nymphomaniacs, who knows?" he said.

"Cheap producers don't need anything more than a boy and girl, a hotel room and a camera. There's no script, just lots of action."

Bill Diehl, a former Atlanta journalist turned movie producer, agreed.

"There's just so little money in blue movies in Atlanta that it's a dangerous game to be in. Their whole scheme is to make a flick in one day and turn it over for a quick profit. Well, if they run even one day over schedule, they could lose a thousand bucks," he said.

Diehl, writer and producer of "The Secretary" which he says now stands to make over $3.5 million, claims no kin to the X-rated "art" theaters in downtown Atlanta.

"We had some explicit scenes in 'The Secretary,' including nudity, foul language and violence but not any more than you would find in other R rated pictures like 'The Godfather' or 'Midnight Cowboy.'"

"Hell to see some of the nude shots in those pictures you'd have to have the fastest eyeballs in the West," he said.

While Thevis has extracted himself from the hardcore line of pornography, he still says he was never wrong.

"The only time I ever spent in jail was 15 days in New Orleans. The judge said if I would promise to leave the business forever he'd set me free on bond. I told him I didn't think I'd done anything wrong and I wanted to appeal the case later so I sure wasn't going to admit to any guilt," he said.

"Well as soon as that was out of my mouth, bang goes the gavel, and I'm wrapped up in handcuffs. All the flashbulbs in the place went off and everybody says, 'Well, they finally got the king.'"

"It was just too much of a hassle for my family and there was more money to be made elsewhere, so I decided to get myself put."

Thevis, who used to manage a news stand 10 years ago on Marietta Street, said he decided to be open about his association with sex magazines when he saw that 80 per cent of his profits were coming from 10 per cent of his merchandise.

"All my girlie magazines were selling fast, so I decided, hell if that's what they want, I'll give it to them."

After opening Pendulum Books Inc., Thevis said he experimented with religious books and maps of Vietnam ("I really lost . . . on those") before turning to pornography.

Ten Testify— On Thevis

By NICK TAYLOR

Ten witnesses, including two who were granted immunity and ordered to testify after taking the Fifth Amendment earlier, appeared Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating possible tax violations by Atlanta adult book dealer Michael G. Thevis.

The jury is considering possible charges against Thevis and his wife, Joan, of income tax violations and "obstruction of justice."

The grand jury is expected to wind up its latest session in the probe of Thevis' financial empire with testimony from six more witnesses Thursday.

Laverne Bowden and Sylvia Kametches, who both invoked Fifth Amendment protection and refused to testify after being subpoenaed Tuesday, went before Wednesday's grand jury session.

They, along with Roger D. Underhill, Ed Hubert Smith and Leroy Cropper, refused to testify Tuesday before U.S. District Judge William C. O'Kelley granted them immunity and signed orders compelling their testimony. Smith testified for almost two hours Tuesday after the orders were signed.

Cropper, of Laredo, Tex., is according to agents of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service a key witness in the Thevis probe.

J. Robert Sparks, prosecutor in charge of the U.S. Justice department's Organized Crime Task Force in Atlanta, said six more witnesses will be called Thursday.

They will include Cropper and Underhill.

Others who have testified so far include Thomas Chiapel of St. Louis, Mo.; Robert M. Green of Doraville; Charles L. Wilcox of Key West, Fla.; George Harlow of Birmingham, Ala.; and Mathew Arcis of Sarasota, Fla.

The three-day grand jury session is the first since January to hear evidence in two years of investigation in the

Two Reluctant Witnesses Testify in Thevis Tax Probe

By DONNA LORENZ ♦

A special federal grand jury investigating possible tax violations by Atlanta adult-book dealer Michael G. Thevis Wednesday heard testimony from two of the five witnesses who earlier invoked 5th Amendment protection and declined to testify.

After the five witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury refused to testify under their constitutional guarantee against self-incrimination Tuesday, U.S. District Judge William C. O'Kelley granted each of them immunity against prosecution based on the testimony and ordered them to testify.

When the grand jury reconvened here Wednesday morning, the first witness called was Laverne Bowden, one of the five. She was in the grand jury room about an hour and 40 minutes and federal officials indicated she might be called again.

The second witness was Sylvia Kametches, who also declined to testify Tuesday. She remained in the grand jury room about 10 minutes, came out and conferred briefly with a Thevis attorney, who waited outside during most of the morning's session, and then returned.

THE THREE other witnesses who refused to testify Tuesday are Roger D. Underhill, Ed Hubert Smith and Leroy Cropper of Laredo, Tex. They were due to be called later Wednesday.

The grand jury session is the first since January to hear evidence in a two-year old investigation into Thevis' pornography empire. The jury is considering possible charges against Thevis and his wife of income tax violations and "obstruction of justice."

One of the witnesses, Leroy Cropper, refused to testify in the Thevis investigation last August, even after he was granted immunity. He was cited for contempt of court on that occasion and sentenced to serve the length of the grand jury session — until the end of 1971. He was released on $5,000 appeals bond, however.

Underhill also faces federal charges on a firearms violation.

The grand jury is expected to stay in session through Thursday.

3 Won't Testify In Thevis Case

By NICK TAYLOR

A special federal grand jury probing Atlanta pornography kingpin Michael G. Thevis' financial empire for evidence of possible income tax violations heard four witnesses refuse to testify Tuesday.

A woman and three men — one who was jailed a year ago for refusing to testify after the government had given him immunity — took the Fifth Amendment in their grand jury appearances.

It was the first session on the ongoing Thevis investigation since last Jan. 17, when the grand jury was empaneled to probe organized crime around Atlanta and take over the Thevis probe from a previous grand jury.

Prosecutor J. Robert Sparks, head of the U.S. Justice department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Atlanta, said six witnesses appeared Tuesday and 16 were subpoenaed to testify Wednesday.

Lee Cropper, of Laredo, Tex., a man considered a key witness in the Thevis probe, was one of the four who took the Fifth Amendment.

U.S. District Judge William C. O'Kelley later Tuesday granted the four immunity from prosecution and signed orders compelling their testimony. They are to reappear Wednesday.

But last August Cropper, who according to Internal Revenue Service agents was a Houston, Tex., employe of the Thevis-owned Satellite News Agency, balked at testifying before the grand jury under similar circumstances.

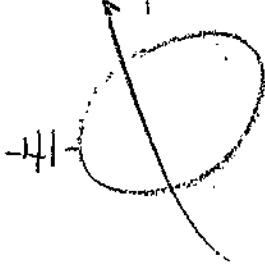

Judge O'Kelley at the time held Cropper in contempt of court and ordered him jailed for the duration of the grand jury, which was to run through the end of 1971. But Cropper was released on $5,000 appeal bond within the hour.

Others who refused to testify Tuesday, and who were given immunity and ordered to give testimony on Wednesday, are Roger Dean Underhill of 2489 Old Orchard Court in Chamblee, Ed Herbert Smith of Atlanta and Sylvia Kametches of 3615 Pin Oak Circle, Doraville.

Underhill and his wife were arrested in December 1968 and charged with holding up a downtown Atlanta coin store.

Sparks said the latest session in the Thevis tax investigation might run through Thursday.

The IRS has been auditing Thevis' books for more than two years, and evidence has not been presented to two federal grand juries over two years.

Term Reduced for Lawyer Who 'Lost' Thevis Films

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In a 4-3 decision, the Louisiana Supreme Court has lightened the contempt sentence for an attorney who "lost" two skin movies intended for evidence against pornography kingpin Michael Thevis of Atlanta.

Thevis, charged with being the owner of a pornographic movie house here, was defendant in a suit brought earlier this year by the Society to Oppose Pornography.

Two films — "Turn Me On LSD" and "Law and Disorder" — were scheduled to be used as evidence in the trial. The trial judge ordered that the films be brought into court, but the man who had them in his possession did not show up with them. The judge then issued an attachment for him.

But attorney Michael Silvers met with the trial judge in his chambers and told the judge that he had advised the man not to show up and not to present the films.

The trial judge recalled the attachment, having been assured by Silvers that he had possession of the films and that they would be produced whenever the judge required them.

The trial was continued until June 16 of this year.

MICHAEL THEVIS
Louisiana Decision

A few days prior to the trial date, Silvers told the judge that he had discovered that the films he had in his possession were not the ones to be used as evidence and that he could not come up with the right films.

They had, Silvers said, been sent on their regular way through the business channels of the skin flick trade. The judge gave him a week to turn up the films, and, when Silvers failed to do so, sentenced him to five days for contempt of court.

On the grounds that state law provides for only a one-day sentence or a $100 fine for attorneys at law found guilty of contempt, the Louisiana Supreme Court Tuesday reduced the sentence to 24 hours.

Justices Walter Hamlin of New Orleans, Joe W. Sanders, of Baton Rouge and Frank W. Summers of Abbeville dissented.

In his written dissent, Summers said, "In my view the trial judge was amply supported by law in imposing imprisonment for five days. The offense involved was a direct contempt in that it was a contumacious failure to comply with a subpoena which Silvers agreed to obey. It is my opinion that when Silvers represented to the court that he had possession of the films and would produce them when ordered, he withdrew from his role as attorney in the matter," Summers said.

In August of last year, Thevis was sentenced here to five years in prison on three counts of interstate transportation of obscene materials, with the sentences to run concurrently.

In that case, Thevis and two

Donahue Stars for Thevis

By HOWELL RAINES

Troy Donahue, simon-pure Hollywood hero of the early 1960s, is now making movies for Mike Thevis, a controversial Atlantan who made a fortune in the "adult" book and skin flick business.

Thevis, target of many federal obscenity charges in the past, revealed for the first time Tuesday that he is financing and producing a Western comedy starring Donahue, a teen heart throb during his heyday at Warner Brothers. The G-rated movie, "The Last Stop," is being filmed now at locations in and around Atlanta.

Thevis said taking public credit for his part in the film project represents a new turn in his career. He is abandoning the "adult" book and film business, which, in addition to making him a rich man, has made him a target of what he calls "federal harassment" and, if his current appeals fail, could land him in federal prison.

"I divested myself of the adult bookstores, and since then I've been divesting myself of interests in the whole adult business," said Thevis. His future business will be producing records and general audience movies.

"Actually, I've been producing non-X rated movies for the past four years," Thevis said, explaining that he had not taken public credit for these projects for fear that his legal difficulties and reputation as "pornography kingpin" would have an adverse effect.

But, said Thevis, the time has come to take public credit for his new ventures.

The movie will be produced and distrib-

against him. Thevis says he will turn his business over to associates to run in his absence. "I may have to go to jail," he admits, adding that he figures two years would probably be about the maximum time he would have to serve. "I believe I could take two years."

Thevis, although he feels strongly that he has been misrepresented in the local press and badgered by federal officials, says he has no grudge against Atlanta. Indeed, he is bent on seeing it become an entertainment center.

"I think we've got the talent and I know I've got the drive and I've got the money," says

Thevis, whose palatial home on Powers Ferry Road has become an Atlanta landmark. The home, contrary to its public reported value of $200,000, is worth closer to a million, he says.

II. BACKGROUND OF PEACHTREE NATIONAL DISTRIBUTING, INC. OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA

AT 145-237

JTD:bsm/ljs

The following investigation was conducted by
SA JOHN T. DARKO at Atlanta, Georgia:

MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS was president and principal operator of Peachtree News, Incorporated, Atlanta, Georgia. THEVIS during the past several months supposedly resigned his position as president of Peachtree News, and presently one [REDACTED] of this company. THEVIS, however, remains the main power of force behind Peachtree News and several subsidiary companies. THEVIS additionally operates the Peachtree National Distributors, Incorporated, Pendulum Books, Incorporated, and Book Bin, Incorporated, all in Atlanta, Georgia. All of the above corporations are located in one building which faces four streets, and because of this, four addresses are utilized interchangeably by THEVIS in his operation of these companies. The addresses are as follows:

- (1) 267 Marietta Street, Northwest;
- (2) 240 Luckie Street, Northwest;
- (3) 238 Earle Street, Northwest;
- (4) 221 Foundry Street, Northwest.

Investigation has revealed that Peachtree News Company, Incorporated, and Peachtree National Distributors, Incorporated, transport books and magazines of the nude girl and nude boy variety, as well as paperback story books. Investigation has further revealed that these two corporations also ship books and picture magazines which have been deemed hard core pornography. Accordingly, indictments have been returned against THEVIS at Atlanta, Georgia, Jacksonville, Florida, and New Orleans, Louisiana. The United States Attorney, Washington, D. C., in the past was seeking to indict THEVIS in connection with interstate transportation of pornography from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D. C., however, he was advised by a Departmental Attorney not to seek the indictment in view of a suit filed by THEVIS in United States District Court, Jacksonville, Florida, against the Attorney General and others, charging harassment in multiple prosecution. The United States Attorney, Atlanta, Georgia, upon instructions of the Department of Justice, dismissed the indictments outstanding against THEVIS and [redacted] [redacted], on May 11, 1970, in connection with Interstate Transportation of Obscene Matter from Atlanta to Jacksonville, Florida, and from Atlanta to Washington, D. C.

b7c

Investigation has also revealed that the above corporations ship books and magazines by all the motor freight carriers in Atlanta, as well as by various air freight carriers, railway express, and parcel post. It is to be noted that some of the books and magazines are not pornography and that these companies ship their merchandise to each of the fifty states, as well as to some twelve or fifteen foreign countries.

It is noted that Pendulum Books, Incorporated, is a corporation which publishes paperback books. Both novels and pornography stories are published by this corporation.

The Book Bin, Incorporated, is a mail order business operated by THEVIS and deals with mostly nude girl and nude boy magazines, which also includes the male - female pornographic magazines.

The following is a description of THEVIS:

Race	White
Sex	Male
Age	38
Date of birth	February 25, 1932
Place of birth	Raleigh, North Carolina
Height	5' 10 1/2"
Weight	179 pounds
Hair	Black, thinning
Eyes	Brown
Nationality	Greek
Federal Bureau of Investigation Number	672 805 C

THEVIS is responsible for forming within the past two years an organization known as the American Publishers and Distributors Association for the purpose of policing the adult book publishers and distributors. This organization has had convention and meetings in Honolulu, Hawaii, and Los Angeles, California, in the past year. Information received recently, however, indicates the possibility that this organization is now defunct.

Regarding [redacted] [redacted] THEVIS', and [redacted] THEVIS in setting up numerous book stores or adult-type movies throughout the United States. [redacted] was arrested by Bureau agents in Atlanta on April 17, 1970, on an indictment originating in New Orleans, Louisiana, however, this indictment was dismissed on June 1, 1970.

Investigation has determined that [redacted] was supposedly doing business as Bookmart, Incorporated, Broad Street Bookmart, 2057 Broad Street, New Orleans, Louisiana, and also in New Orleans as the St. Peters Bookmart located at 730 St. Peters Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

[redacted] is described as follows:

(a) To manufacture, buy, sell, deal in and to engage and conduct and carry on the business of manufacturing, buying, selling, producing, and dealing in goods, wares, and merchandise of every class and description, including, but not limited to, books, magazines, periodicals and newspapers.

(b) To buy, acquire, sell, develop, build, divide, lease, exchange, and generally handle real estate and leaseholds of any and all kinds.

(c) To lend and advance money or give credit to such persons, firms, corporations and on such terms as may seem expedient.

(d) To acquire and pay for in cash, stock or bonds of this corporation, the goodwill, rights and assets and property and to undertake or assume the whole or any part of the obligations, or liabilities of any person, firm, association or corporation.

(e) To enter into, make, perform, and carry out contracts of every kind and for any lawful purpose, with any firm, person, association, corporation, body politic or Government.

(f) To borrow or raise money without limit as to amount, and to draw, make, accept, endorse, execute and issue promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, warrants, bonds, debentures, and other negotiable or non-negotiable instruments and evidences of indebtedness, and to secure the payment of any of the foregoing, any interest thereon by mortgage upon, or pledge, or assignment, and trust of the whole or any part of the property of the corporation, to sell, pledge, or otherwise dispose of such bonds, or other evidence of indebtedness for the purposes of the corporation.

(g) To purchase, hold, sell, assign, transfer, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise dispose of the shares of the capital stock of, or any bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness created by any other corporation or corporations organized under the laws of the State of Missouri or any other State or foreign Country, always subject however, to the laws of the State of Missouri.

(h) In general, to carry on any other similar business in connection with the foregoing, to do any or all of the things hereinbefore set forth to the same extent as natural persons might or could do, in any part of the world.

(i) The foregoing clauses shall be construed both as objects and powers, and except where otherwise expressed, such objects and powers, shall in no wise be limited or restricted by reference to or inference from the terms of any other clause in this certificate of incorporation, but the objects and powers as so specified shall be regarded as independent powers and objects, and it is hereby expressly provided that the foregoing enumeration and specific powers shall not be held to limit or restrict in any manner the general powers of this corporation.

Article 9:

(a) Any person made a party to any action, suit, or proceeding by reason of the fact that he, his testator, or intestate is or was a director, officer, employee of the corporation, or of any corporation which he served as such at the request of the corporation, shall be indemnified by the corporation against the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, actually and necessarily incurred by him in connection with any appeal therein except in relation to matters as to which it shall be adjudged in such action, suit or proceeding that such officer, director or employee is liable for negligence or misconduct in the performance of his duties.

(b) No contract or other transaction between the corporation and other firm or corporation shall be effected or invalidated by reason of the fact that one or more of the directors or officers of this corporation is, or are, interested in, or is a member, stockholder, director or officer, of such other firm or corporation and each and every person who may become a director or officer of this corporation is relieved from any liability that would otherwise exist from thus contracting with this corporation for the benefit of himself, or for, association, or corporation in which he may be in any way interested.

Corporation Department records reflect that ALL STAR NEWS COMPANY, INC., sold a substantial part of its business to a company to be formed in Missouri under the name of ALL STAR NEWS AGENCY OF ST. LOUIS, INC., however, since the name was so similar to that of ALL STAR NEWS COMPANY, INC., the Corporation Department would not issue a charter. Attorneys for ALL STAR NEWS COMPANY, INC. advised the Corporation Department in September, 1970, that they were in the process of changing that company's name to PAPERBACK SUPPLY COMPANY, therefore, it would enable a charter to be issued in the name of ALL STAR NEWS AGENCY OF ST. LOUIS, INC.

The following information was obtained from Articles of Incorporation of ALL STAR NEWS AGENCY OF ST. LOUIS, INC. which were filed October 1, 1970:

"I, the undersigned, being a natural person of the age of 21 years or more, for the purpose of forming a corporation under the General Business Corporation Act of Missouri, do hereby adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:"

Article 1:

The name of the Corporation is ALL STAR NEWS AGENCY OF ST. LOUIS, INC.

Article 3:

The aggregate number of shares which the corporation shall have authority to issue shall be Six Hundred (600) shares of Common Stock with par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). All shares shall be subject to a right in the corporation to repurchase in accordance with Article Nine hereof.

The initial shareholders of the corporation shall have the right to purchase additional shares if offered by the corporation in proportion to their original holdings, but this right shall not apply to shares declared as dividends, nor to shares used to pay bona fide obligations of the Corporation. Except as herein provided, there shall be no pre-emptive rights.

Article 4:

The number of shares to be issued before the corporation commenced business was Five (5), having the total value of ($500.00). Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) was paid up in lawful money prior to commencing of the business.

Article 5:

Article 6:

The number of directors to be elected at the first meeting of the shareholders was to be three (3) and thereafter the number shall be determined by the shareholders but not less than three (3), nor more than twenty-one (21). Change to be made by Amendment to Articles of Incorporation.

Article 7:

The duration of the Corporation is perpetual.

Article 8:

The Corporation was formed for the following purposes:

To organize and operate retail stores selling paperback books, magazines, newspapers, greeting cards and other related items.

To carry on any business, not contrary to the laws of the State of Missouri, and to have and exercise all the powers, rights and privileges conferred by the laws of Missouri upon corporations formed under such laws, and to do any or all of the things herein before set forth to the same extent as natural persons might or could do.

Article 9:

The corporation reserves and shall have the first right and option to purchase any share in the event the holder thereof desires to sell or otherwise dispose of said shares; or in the event a petition in bankruptcy is filed by or against the holder, or a receiver is made against, any property of the holder. No shareholder shall transfer, alienate, or in any way dispose of any share of the corporation unless such share shall first have been offered for sale to the corporation in accordance with the right and option herein reserved. Such option may be exercised by the corporation at any time during a 60-day period following receipt by the Secretary of the corporation of written notice from the holder of his desire to sell or otherwise dispose of such share, or during the 60 day period following the occurrence of any of the other events above mentioned, by tender to the holder, or his personal representative or other interested party, of a sum equal to the book value of such share. If the parties cannot agree on book value, then the person employed to audit the company books at that time shall conclusively determine such book value. If tender is not made within said 60 day period, the option to purchase shall expire, and the share may be transferred without restriction; provided, however, that if a proposed transfer of any share is not consummated by the holder within six months following receipt of notice by the Secretary, then the right and option of the corporation to purchase such share shall be reinstated to be exercised upon the subsequent occurrence of any such event.

On February 18, 1965, an Amendment to the original Articles of Incorporation was filed with the Corporation Department, which reflects the following:

[redacted] City Revenue Collector, Little Rock, Arkansas, was contacted at his office and supplied the following information:

[redacted] advised that his office had granted a license to The Adults Only Book Store located at 4421 Asher on March 24, 1971. At that time this business was located at 1007 Kavanaugh but has since moved to their present location on Asher Avenue.

[redacted] stated that the license was issued to Books Limited, Incorporated, with the name [redacted]

[redacted] of this corporation. He stated that he recalled [redacted] was a woman and that she had applied for these licenses in person. She was granted two licenses, one for running the book store and selling books, and the other one for having vending machines on the premises. She was charged $25.00 for the book store license and an additional $20.00 for the license to have vending machines.

[redacted] further advised that his office had also issued a license to The Adult Book Store at 213 West Markham on June 29, 1971. This license was issued to The Book House, Books Limited, Incorporated.

[redacted] stated there was no name of a specific individual on this license but that he recalled [redacted] had also applied for this license and both of these operations were managed by her. [redacted] advised that Books Limited, Incorporated had paid a half year fee, $12.50, for the book license and an additional half year fee of $10.00 in order to have four amusement machines on the premises.

[redacted] furnished Xerox copies of the four account cards for the four city licenses obtained by Books Limited, Incorporated and advised that these were the only licenses (vending) of which he was aware were issued to Books Limited, Incorporated.

A review of city tax record files reveals that the Paris Book Stall number two (Global Leasing, 207 Marietta Northwest, Atlanta, Georgia) and Paris Book Stall number one (Global Leasing, 207 Marietta Northwest, Atlanta, Georgia), paid a $500 occupation tax on each store on April 13, 1971.

He advised that on June 15, 1971, the Central Avenue Bookstore, 115 Central Avenue, paid a $40 amusement tax for amusement machines. He advised that the tax is assessed at $5.00 a machine and is usually charged for pinball type machines. He advised that it is his understanding that the tax was paid for movie type machines instead of pinball machines and that these type machines will not be permitted unless he is directed to do so by the city council of Hot Springs.

The following was observed at the Central Avenue Book Mart, 115 Central Avenue, Hot Springs, Arkansas:

At approximately 10:17 AM an [] delivery truck [] parked in front of the Central Avenue Book Mart. The driver of this vehicle, described as a white male, approximately [] years old, blond hair, wearing glasses, 6'1" tall, 190 pounds, removed five shipping containers from the rear of the vehicle and placed them on a small hand truck. Each of these boxes was light brown in color and approximately 2'x1'x1' with one container slightly larger than the other four. A stamped circular trademark with the trade name Mountain Top Container Corporation was observed on the bottom of at least two of these containers. The driver then delivered these five shipping containers inside the Central Avenue Book Mart and was observed leaving the store approximately four minutes later.

b7D

Upon entering the Central Avenue Book Mart approximately two minutes after the truck driver's departure, five brown shipping containers identical with those delivered a few minutes earlier were observed to be stacked behind the cash register counter. There were no other shipping containers observed in the establishment at this time. The proprietor of the book store is described only as a white male, [] years of age, 5'11" tall, 190 pounds, black hair.

b6

During the course of the following hour the store operator was observed opening each of the previously described shipping containers, removing their contents, which were either paperback novels, small edition newspapers, or small 3"x2" booklets, and placing these items on the store shelves.

Approximately 30 small 3"x2" booklets were removed from one brown shipping carton upon which the handwritten initials "J" was observed. These booklets were placed upon a glass display cabinet which also served as a cash register stand. Six of these same booklets with the following titles were then purchased from the store operator for the price of 50¢ each:

"Close Up"

"Masie R.N., All in a Day's Work"

"Golf Widow, But Oh! After"

"New Maid, Learns the Ropes"

"Doll Face and Every Place Else"

"Movie Boss - Discovery of a Star"

The store operator was then observed to carry one shipping container from its original position behind the cash register counter and place it down next to a book shelf on the opposite wall. He removed approximately 40 paperback novels from this carton and placed them on the shelf. When the proprietor returned to the cash register to assist a customer, the box was turned on its side and the handwritten initial "J" was observed on the bottom of this box. Two novels entitled "In Search of Oral Climax" and "Woman To Woman" which had been taken from the box and placed in stock by the proprietor were purchased at this time.

After departing the store the handwritten initials "JPJ" were transcribed in each of the six booklets and two novels described above.

The following was observed at the Books Limited Adult Book Store, 404 Main Street, North Little Rock, Arkansas:

RACE White

AGE Approximately

HAIR Black

WEIGHT 210

The driver removed two shipping containers from the rear of the vehicle and placed them on a small hand truck. Each of these boxes was light brown in color and approximately 3' x 1½' x 1½'. On each of these two boxes a large printed letter "Z" was noted on the side of each box. The driver then delivered these two shipping containers inside the Books Limited Adult Book Store and placed them on the floor immediately adjacent to the cash register counter. The driver received a signature from the store clerk as receipt for the delivery and then departed the store.

Upon observing the operator of this store it was noted that he is described as:

Within several minutes after the driver's departure, the store operator was observed to open one of the two shipping containers delivered into the store. It is noted that there were no other boxes or cartons observed on the premises at this time. From this one open box the store operator removed approximately 50 small edition newspapers and commenced to staple the pages together. Six of the same small edition newspapers which were observed to have been removed from the shipping container by the store operator were then purchased for the price of 75¢ each. The following is a description of the title of each of the above described newspapers:

San Francisco Ball, Vol. 28
Hot Stuff, Vol. 17
Suckatash
Hooker, Vol. 1, No. 14
Climax Together, Vol. 10, No. 11
Pussy Cat, Vol. 3, No. 13

While remaining in the store for approximately 20 minutes, it was observed that the store contained two main rooms. The first room was approximately 25' x 30' and had bookshelves on two walls. The two walls which contained built-in bookshelves displayed numerous magazines which, judged from their cover, dealt with sexual matters. It was not possible to view the actual contents of these magazines since they were sealed in a cellophane wrapper. It is noted, however, that the covers of these magazines depicted pictures of nude male and female partners engaged in simulated acts of sexual intercourse, fellatio, and cunnilingus.

The other main room of the store, which was approximately 18' x 25', contained four enclosed peep-show booths. The entire cost of an entire film would be $2.00, as it contained eight segments of approximately four minutes duration for one quarter for each segment. The films in two of these peep-show booths were viewed and it was noted that they displayed films which exhibited male and female partners engaged in actual sexual intercourse, cunnilingus, and fellatio.

At 10:56 AM, the driver of the truck departed the bookstore and returned to his vehicle and drove away.

Upon entering the bookstore at 11:32 AM two brown boxes measuring one and a half feet by one and a half feet by two and a half feet were observed open behind the counter. The one box was open but contained nothing. The second box was open and contained a stack of newspapers. No other boxes were observed in the store. The two boxes behind the counter had a big "Z" on the side of each box.

A white male, [redacted] years old, 5'10" tall, 185 pounds, black curly hair, with a heavy build, was observed taking newspapers out of the box, stapling the newspaper together and placing them on the racks in the store. The following newspapers were observed taken out of the box, stapled by the white male, and placed on the magazine rack. After they were placed on the racks, the interviewing Agent purchased these newspapers from the white male. The newspapers are: "Eat", Volume I, cost 75¢; "Club Orgy", #17, cost 75¢; "Stud", #18, cost 75¢; "Score", #7, cost 75¢.

The following was observed at the Books Ltd. Adult Bookstore, 404 North Main, North Little Rock, Arkansas:

At 11:16 AM, upon entering the Books Ltd. Adult Bookstore, two brown boxes, approximately two and one-half feet long, one foot high, and one foot wide, bearing a letter Z marking observable on the side of each box were noticed on the floor. The two boxes were behind the counter and no other shipping containers were observable in the store. The proprietor is described only as a white male, [redacted] years of age, 5'9" tall, 175 pounds, black hair.

b7C

One box was already opened and behind the counter on the floor. During the course of the next thirty minutes the store operator was observed opening the remaining carton, removing small edition newspapers and placing these items on the counter top where he stapled each one shut. Three of these same newspapers with the following titles were then purchased from the store operator for the price of 75¢ each and one newspaper was purchased for 25¢:

"Stud"
"Orgy"
"Score"
"Informer"

The layout of the store's interior is basically that the south and west walls are covered the magazines, with the covers displaying various stages of nudity. Most of these covers have the individuals simulating some type of sex act, such as sexual intercourse, fellatio, and cumilingus. The contents of the magazines could not be viewed in that all magazines were sealed in plastic. The south wall had two book racks containing pocket book novels with sexually oriented titles.

Toward the rear of the store there are four booths with each one containing a different type of sex film. Portions of two of these films were observed. Each film was divided into eight sections, each section costing 25¢ to view. The first film had the cast of a Negro female and white male laying on a bed or chaise lounge. Both partners were nude and the female was engaged in fellatio with the male. After a few seconds she then mounted the male and they engaged in sexual intercourse. The portion of the second film viewed began with a white male and female on a bed. The male was nude with his genitals exposed and the female had on a dress. She was performing fellatio when a second male entered and completely undressed. The two males then proceeded to undress the female. One of the males manually and orally manipulated the female's breasts while the second male manipulated her vaginal area.

After departing the store the handwritten initials RLM and the date were transcribed on each of the four magazines described earlier in the upper right-hand corner.

At 10:15 a.m. the driver left the store.

At 10:19 a.m. the white male clerk opened the brown box and removed the contents and placed it on the counter. The contents of the box were tabloid type newspapers. The clerk sorted through the newspapers dividing them into stacks of eight to ten newspapers and then he divided each stack in half and put half back into the paper box. He then began stapling shut the remaining newspapers. After stapling the newspapers shut, he placed them under the counter. He then began leafing through several of the newspapers from the box one of which was captioned "Suckatash".

The clerk's counter in the store is located on the north side. The book racks in the store are located on the east and south walls of the store. There are two rotary pocketbook stands located near the front entrance of the store

The following observations were made at the Central Avenue Book Mart, 115 Central Avenue, Hot Springs, Arkansas:

At approximately 10:26 a.m., a [redacted] truck stopped in front of the Central Avenue Book Mart, unloaded four cardboard boxes from the van, and delivered them to the Central Avenue Book Mart. At the time these boxes were unloaded and delivered, it was observed that the boxes were marked with a circle and a slash mark through the circle which markings had previously been made by SA [redacted]

At approximately 10:32 a.m., Agent entered Central Avenue Book Mart and observed the four cardboard containers, marked as described above, stacked beside the cash register counter. No other shipping containers were observed in the establishment. The employee of the book mart is described as a white male, approximately [redacted] years of age, approximately 5'11" tall, 190 pounds, black hair, long sideburns.

Shortly after the Agent entered the store the previously described employee was observed opening three of the marked shipping containers and removing their contents, which were observed to be tabloid type newspapers, paperback novels and magazines. This employee placed the magazines behind the cash register counter and placed the paperback books and newspapers on the shelves. It was observed that approximately 20 to 30 magazines were received, these being three or four different titles. One magazine entitled "Close Up #1" was purchased from the store employee at a cost of $4.12.

Date 1/20/72

The following was observed at Books, Ltd., Inc., 404 Main, North Little Rock, Arkansas:

At approximately 9:55 AM, a [] delivery van pulled up and parked in front of Books, Ltd., Inc. The driver, described as a white male, approximately [] years, 6', 185 pounds, removed three shipping containers from the rear of the van and carried them inside the store.

Upon entering the store immediately preceding the driver, it was noted that the proprietor was a white female, approximately 55 years of age, who identified herself as Mrs. WARD to the truck driver. The truck driver stated that he had a shipment for the store and Mrs. WARD advised that [] had just gone to the bank to make a deposit and would return with the money to pay the c.o.d. charge shortly. Mrs. WARD then called the Commercial National Bank in an attempt to locate [] and she asked the bank personnel to try to locate [] of Books, Ltd. who was at the bank at that time. After a few minutes she said, "Thank you," and hung up the telephone. She then stated to the truck driver that [] had just left the bank and should arrive at the store within a few minutes.

Approximately five minutes later, a white male, approximately [] years of age, 5'11", 190 pounds, entered the store and Mrs. WARD remarked, [] This individual identified himself as [] to the truck driver, whereupon the truck driver stated that the c.o.d. charge of approximately $560.00 was due on this shipment. [] then handed the truck driver what appeared to be a cashier's check for that amount.

[] then opened one of these boxes and remarked that it contained magazines. He stated that all of these magazines would have to be wrapped in cellophane prior to putting them up for sale. [] was observed to remove approximately seventy-five brightly colored magazines from the shipping container and place them on the cash register counter. The covers of these magazines displayed both nude males and nude females in various suggestive poses. On covers of several of the magazines nude couples were engaged in simulated sexual acts. Upon attempting to purchase these items from [redacted] he stated that until he was finished wrapping all of them in plastic, he would not be able to sell them. He stated that he would have to cover up the sex organs of any males or females appearing on the covers of these magazines with masking tape in accordance with the local censorship board before he could sell them. [redacted] stated that he would probably complete this work late that evening and that all of the magazines that had come in on that day's shipment would be up on the shelves for sale on the following day.

The following activities were observed in the Adult Book Store, 404 North Main, North Little Rock, Arkansas:

At approximately 10:25 a.m. upon entering the Adult Book Store, the dictating Agent observed three boxes behind the counter. These three boxes were the same three as delivered by [redacted] truck [redacted] at 9:57 the same date, because they were marked and identifiable by a black "S" on the boxes. Two of these boxes were approximately two feet by two feet by two feet, and one was eight inches by one and a half feet by two feet.

The smaller box had already been opened by the store employee and various magazines were deposited on the counter out of that box. The store employee was named [redacted] and the same operator as observed in the same store at another earlier date. The store employee was in the process of putting tape over any exposed genital organs which were displayed on the cover of the magazines. Attempts to purchase any of these magazines met with negative results in that [redacted] explained that he had to wrap each magazine in cellophane paper and that they would not be available for sale until the next day.

The following was observed at the Books Limited, Inc., Adult Book Store, 404 North Main Street, North Little Rock, Arkansas:

At 11:06 a.m., the interviewing Agent entered the Adult Book Store and observed three brown boxes. One box was approximately eight inches by one and a half feet by two and a half feet. The other two boxes were approximately two feet by two feet by two feet. These were the only boxes observed in the store. Each box had a black letter "S" on the side.

Upon entering the store, a white female, approximately 5'2", 200 pounds, approximately [] years of age, with reddish-brown hair, was standing behind the counter with another white male, approximately 5'10", 180 pounds, black hair, and approximately [] years old. Another employee, a white male, 5'10", 175 pounds, blond hair, and approximately [] years of age, was working in the back of the store.

The white female and the dark-haired white male employee were observed taking magazines out of a brown box, eight inches by one and a half feet by two and a half feet. The white male was taking the magazines out of the box, and the white female employee was observed placing tape over the genital organs of males and females pictured on the front of the magazines. Magazines entitled "Touch and Go," "Honeymooners, #1," and "Young Stuff" were observed taken out of this box by the dark-haired male, and the white female employee was placing tape over the exposed male and female genital organs that appeared on the cover of the magazines. At this time it was noted that the store did not have identical magazines for sale on the racks in the store.

At 11:25 a.m., the white, dark-haired male employee was observed opening one of the boxes measuring approximately two feet by two feet by two feet with a black letter "S" on the side of the box. He then moved the box over to the counter area near the box that measured eight inches by one and a half feet by two and a half feet.

The interviewing Agent placed 75 cents in one movie peep machine and observed two nude white females and one nude white male conducting acts of simulated sex and the white male was observed fondling the breasts and vaginal areas of the two white females.

One dollar was placed in another movie peep machine, and a nude white female and nude white male were observed conducting acts of simulated sex.

Upon returning to the front of the store, the interviewing Agent asked the white female employee if he could purchase magazines entitled "Touch and Go," "Honeymooners, #1," and "Young Stuff" at this time. The white female advised that these magazines could not be purchased until they were wrapped in cellophane and the remainder of the magazines that were received were censored in like manner by taping the covers and placing in cellophane.

The following activities were observed at the Books Limited, Inc., Adult Book Store, 404 North Main Street:

At 11:27 AM, upon entering the store, three brown shipping boxes were observed in the store, all three bearing handwritten "S"s on sides of each box in black ink. One of these boxes was on the floor next to the south wall of the store and had a metal band wrapped around it. This box measured approximately eight inches by eighteen inches by eighteen inches.

The two other boxes were behind the counter near the north wall of the store and both measured approximately two feet by two feet by two feet. A clerk at the store was removing magazines from one of these two boxes and placing them on the counter and placing pieces of masking type tape over the genital areas of the nude bodies on the covers of these magazines. The following magazines were observed being taken from this box, being placed on the counter, and being taped:

Sex Confidential	Honeymooner #1
Three Little Bares	Honeymooner #2
Honey	Young Stuff
Cissey
Petite
Busy Body
Touch and Go

This clerk was a white female, 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighing 200 pounds, about years old, with reddish-brown hair. A check of magazines on the shelves of the store revealed that none of the above mentioned magazines were on the shelves of the store, and this clerk was not placing any of the above magazines on the shelves.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date January 3, 1972

On January 3, 1972, Sgt. [redacted]
[redacted] Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) furnished the following information:

b6
b7C

A complaint was received from a local citizen pertaining to an item which had been received through the mail which advertised obscene materials and where such materials could be obtained. In view of the fact the address of this concern was located in the area covered by this Detail, it was assigned to Investigator [redacted]

b6
b7C

Investigation disclosed that actually the brochure advertising obscene materials originated from 5585 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles, California. Information was developed through an individual which gave sufficient cause for the issuance of a Search Warrant which was obtained from the court December 28, 1971 and executed at the foregoing address on December 29, 1971.

At the time of the execution of the Search Warrant it was determined that this location had several different trade names and business names operating from 5583-5585 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles, California, one of which was CINEMA CLASSICS, LTD.

All the information pertaining to the probable cause, the obtaining of the Search Warrant, the execution of same is set forth by Investigator [redacted] in the Report of Investigation, DR#71-736486.

b6
b7C

In observing the brochures taken during the foregoing Search Warrant's execution, it was noted that the brochure of CAL-MAIL, P.O. Box 8417, Los Angeles, California 90008, reflected the numbering and titles of some of their 8mm color motion picture films as follows:

Also noted was a book which contained numerous photographs which contained similar markings as those set forth in the brochures it being noted the photographs in what appears to be the catalog book are identical with those in the advertising brochures.

Some of the material seized was not located at the Van Nuys Office of the Vice Detail but was located in the Main Property Room in the Police Administration Building.

Sgt. [] advised that any or all of the material seized could be made available for presentation in Federal Court through the use of a subpoena duces tecum.

b6
b7C

Sgt. [] estimated that 13,300 reels of motion picture films had been seized which were considered pornographic and suitable vehicles for prosecutive action.

RE: ROBERT DI BERNARDO

Prior investigations by the New York Office and Los Angeles Office of the FBI in the field of pornography has identified the foregoing individual as being a partner of [redacted] Aka., [redacted] who are doing business under the trade name of:

b6
b7C

STAR DISTRIBUTORS, INC.
150 Lafayette Place
New York City

ROBERT DI BERNARDO is also identified in the newsletters of THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS AND DISTRIBUTORS ASSOCIATION (APDA) as being a member of that organization which had as its former President, MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS of Atlanta, Georgia. BERNARD C. [redacted] BLOOM are also members of this Association with [redacted] being in charge of putting out the monthly newsletters. This Association was organized three years ago for the express purpose of furnishing legal advice and protection to its members and outlets as well as having a lobby in Washington, D.C., to lobby against "censorship-type legislation" and that which would deprive their members of rights under the First Amendment. The Association was holding conventions about every three months.

b7C

During the trial of MICHAEL GEORGE THEVIS, et al, in the U. S. District Court in New Orleans in April of 1971, THEVIS advised SA [redacted] that he was considering disbanding the Association as whenever they held their conventions "it attracted too much heat" and then referred to the various law enforcement agencies that appeared to observe their conventions.

b6
b7C

Newsletters of the APDA have been furnished to SA [redacted] of the Atlanta Office of the FBI by THEVIS.

On [redacted] the following two films were observed:

NM 22: No title is listed on the film. However, it involves one white female engaged in masturbation on a bed. Two white males thereafter break into the apartment. One male is observed to be wearing a "Mickey Mouse T-Shirt". The two males engage in sexual intercourse with the female, oral copulation and other sexual activities which are all depicted graphically including close-up shots.

NM 23: The title is shown, at the beginning of the film, as "SALES ARE UP". The film involved one white male and one white female shopping in a store and purchasing a rubber-type dildo from a female clerk. Across the street, in the background of this scene, can be seen an office building named "THE GRANKOL BUILDING" with the number "8235" on the building. Following the purchase of the rubber-type dildo, the couple enters another room wherein there appears to be a mattress or low couch and are followed shortly thereafter by the female clerk. The male and the two females engage in sexual intercourse, oral copulation and other sexual activities which are vividly depicted including close-up shots.

Both of the foregoing films are in color and are on 8mm reels, approximately 200' in length.

On December 28, 1971, Agent located THE GRANKOL BUILDING at 8235 Santa Monica Boulevard, Los Angeles, California and noted it to be across the street from the "Z" Men's Shop which appeared to be the location where part of the foregoing film was made.

possibly possess information as to the current whereabouts of []

b6
b7C

Both BERNARD [] BLOOM advised that they had not heard from [] and did not know his current whereabouts.

b6
b7C

BERNARD C. BLOOM recalled that he had met both Agents when in the U. S. District Court in Jacksonville, Florida in November of 1970 and stated that he fully expected to be called to the trial of MIKE THEVIS in New Orleans in August of 1971 but had not been called.

Agents noted a artist's sketch of the proposed residence of M. G. THEVIS in Atlanta, Georgia which was posted on the west wall of the office building in which the interview was conducted. BERNARD BLOOM stated that this was MIKE THEVIS' proposed residence in Atlanta, Georgia.

Below the sketch on the floor a box was noted with contained numerous envelopes with rubber bands on them, the top one indicating it was originating from SECS PRESS.

BERNARD C. BLOOM explained his current physical condition with reference to his heart trouble.

by SAS W. JAMES WOOD & [] hey Date dictated 9/24/71

b6
b7C

Agent [] advised the [] that he had been in New Orleans in August of 1971 for the trial of MIKE THEVIS, and had the opportunity of seeing attorney [] MIKE and [] THEVIS along with [] one evening in a restaurant as well as seeing them in front of a bookstore on Bourbon Street, that it was recalled then that [] had been in Grand Rapids, Michigan in December of 1963 at the trial in which attorney [] introduced [] as an expert in community standards since he traveled throughout the United States contacting all of the bookstores.

b6
b7C

BERNARD BLOOM said that during 1963 [] was working for PARLIAMENT NEWS COMPANY and was out on the road from four to six weeks at a time.

b6
b7C

When being advised by Agent [] that a local dealer in Lawton, Oklahoma had sustained a conviction for selling ANIMAL LOVERS, [] remarked: "That is the one with the hog in it."

b6
b7C

[] inquired as to whether it would be necessary for him to be in Oklahoma City with reference to this case and was advised that possibly an unindicted officer of the corporation might be used to introduce records in the trial.

On January 21, 1972, Investigator [redacted] and City Deputy Attorney [redacted] advised that attorney [redacted] California, had filed affidavits before U. S. District Court Judge IRVING HILL, Los Angeles, California seeking a restraining order and showing that the police were harrassing his clients. [redacted] advised that even though he argued before Judge IRVING HILL the recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions of February 23, 1971 (such as YOUNGER V. HARRIS, 401 U.S. 8 CrL 3103; BOYLE V. LANDRY, 8 CrL 3109; SAMUELS V. MACKELL, 8 CrL 3113; PEREZ V. LEDESMA, 8 CrL 3116; DYSON V. STEIN, 8 CrL 3134; BYRNE V. Karalexix, 8 CrL 3132), Judge HILL had indicated that on Monday, January 24, 1972, he might issue a Temporary Restraining Order in this matter.

b7C

[redacted] advised that he had handled the matter pertaining to the BANNER THEATRES in Los Angeles, California, during the past year, wherein [redacted] had sought from the U. S. District Court and Superior Court at Los Angeles, a similar action and it had been determined through some of the individuals signing the affidavits that they had so informed [redacted] that these affidavits were false. These individuals had been told by [redacted] to disregard that as he would take care of the matter.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that not only was he going to file affidavits from the pertinent officers but also show that the court should deal at arm's length with affidavits filed by [redacted]. Also, [redacted] had a motion before the court to return all films in view of the lack of an Adversary Hearing.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that in dealing in obscenity cases in the past few years in Los Angeles he had noted that [redacted] seems to know that four Federal Judges in Los Angeles are liberal to the point they will listen to his motions and arguments. [redacted] identified these Judges as WARREN J. FERGUSON, WILLIAM P. GRAY, HARRY PREGERSON and IRVING HILL. [redacted] stated he was filing a counter-motion to have a three Judge panel observe the films in order to determine their obscenity and is in hopes that none of the other three Judges will be on that panel.

b6
b7C

[redacted] said that he was aware that the former law clerk for Judge WARREN J. FERGUSON had been hired by [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that points in authority had to be filed by him by 12 noon.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date February 4, 1972

At 2:05 p.m., on February 3, 1972, Agents entered the location of 5585 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles, California and in the Reception Room at this location recognized and talked with [redacted]

[redacted] stated that she recalled the Agents having been there previously to talk with [redacted] BERNARD C. BLOOM.

[redacted] advised that [redacted] had left a few moments before for lunch as well as [redacted]

[redacted] was advised that the U. S. District Court in Jacksonville, Florida had issued warrants of arrest for [redacted] BERNARD C. BLOOM and [redacted] along with other employees at that location; namely, [redacted] and [redacted]

[redacted] advised that [redacted] did not work there with regularity, that he goes in and out of there and had not been there this date.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] had gone to lunch with [redacted] and [redacted] and [redacted] had left for lunch, all should return by 2:45 or 3 p.m. [redacted] stated she would call in an attempt to locate and have these individuals return to the office.

The other female receptionist identified herself as follows:

[redacted] Calif. Drivers license [redacted]
Los Angeles, California [redacted]
Residence telephone: [redacted]

[redacted] said [redacted] and with all of this activity going on thought she would be seeking employment elsewhere.

On 2/3/72 at Los Angeles, Calif. File # LA 44-1134

by SAS W. JAMES WOOD & [redacted] :hey Date dictated 2/4/72

[] inquired as to whether she could get in trouble by working at this location. [] was advised that in the event she was identified as an individual who had the intent and knowledge to ship or mail obscene material in interstate or foreign commerce, that she could become a defendant in the U. S. District Court.

b7C

It was noted that [] was comparing slips of paper which had either pencil or ink writing thereon with the top of the paper bearing "CAL-MAIL" and to which either cash, money order or a check was attached and comparing these with an index card and checking off the card.

b6
b7C

At 2:25 p.m., [] advised that attorney [] was on the telephone and wanted to talk with SA []. [] identified himself as one of the attorneys working in the law offices of [] in Hollywood, California and had previously met SA [] on another occasion. [] was advised of the warrants of arrest for the individuals at this location and then referred SA [] to another attorney in his office identifying himself as []. [] said he could not understand why their clients hadn't been advised by the United States Attorney of this action so that they could arrange to surrender them. [] further advised that due to the time differential he would be unable to contact the United States Attorney in Jacksonville, Florida in order to arrange to surrender his clients. [] advised he would attempt to locate his clients and would arrange to surrender them to the U. S. Magistrate the following date. [] was informed that in the event these individuals could be located, they would be arrested by the FBI.

b6
b7C

SA [] then requested and was granted the use of the Men's Restroom at which time it was noted that neither BERNARD nor [] BLOOM were in their offices. Also visual observation of their parking area disclosed that their cars were gone.

b6
b7C

[] advised that [] had a radio-telephone in his car and that she had left word with his answering service to have him return to the office.

b6
b7C

[] was informed that Agents were well aware of [] physical condition, that it was expected that this matter could be handled in such a manner so as not to cause her father any physical problems. However, Agents had this location surrounded and no one would enter or leave the location without full identification.

At 3:30 p.m., a room-by-room search began with each individual at this location being requested to furnish full identification.

At 3:48 p.m., [] entered the location, requested to see the warrants and was advised of Federal procedure in such matters, that the warrants were in the custody of the U. S. Marshal in Jacksonville, Florida.

[] then advised he was prepared to surrender and [] then advised "I have been advised that the other four individuals will surrender at 9 a.m., tomorrow to the U. S. Magistrate". [] declined to state who had furnished him with this information.

b7C

At this time, [] was informed by SA [] that it was quite apparent by the smell in some of the rooms at this location that someone was smoking marijuana even though eight FBI Agents were in and around this location. [] said he was not aware of this and momentarily left the Reception Room area to go into another portion of the building. [] also ordered that one of the locked rooms be opened for inspection by the FBI.

b7C

[] then advised that he would be leaving in order to represent [] and [] before the U. S. Magistrate in Los Angeles. [] said that this could have been handled differently, that SA [] well knew from past experiences that their firm could be trusted in such matters. SA [] informed [] that to the contrary, a member of their firm had lied before the U. S. Commissioner at Los Angeles. [] replied: "That member is no longer with us".

b6

The door at 5583 West Pico Boulevard lead into a corridor which went about 40 feet in a north-south direction with offices on each side. There were four double offices observed on the west side of the corridor and four single offices observed on the right side.

At the north end of the corridor it turned west and was a east-west corridor about 20 feet long leading into a large general working area which is entered through a separate door. On the north side of the corridor was a Men's Room and Ladies Room as well as stairs leading up to a back entrance.

About a dozen people were observed to be working in the offices at this end of the business location which has its main entrance at 5585 West Pico Boulevard. Observed were typewriters, xerox machines, photographic equipment, printing equipment, and similar equipment for the re-production of photographs and printed material.

Also observed were magazines and photographs of nude men and women of the type appearing in publications prepared and distributed from this location.

A review of St. Louis files disclosed a prior case involving the same individuals as those connected with captioned matter. Located in that file (Bufile 145-4708) is Kansas City report of SA dated 5/17/71. This report contains information on page 8 and 9 concerning prior indictments returned against the principles involved in management of Peachtree National Distributing Company, Atlanta, Georgia. Information in this report shows that U. S. Attorney, Washington, D. C. was advised by a Departmental Attorney not to seek additional indictment against these individuals because of prior indictments currently on file and because of a suit filed against the Attorney General and others charging harassment because of multiple prosecutions.

For the information of the Bureau, the owners of Peachtree National Distributing Company own controlling interest in seven adult book stores doing business as Gateway Books, Inc., in the St. Louis area. In discussing this case with Assistant U. S. Attorney, St. Louis, Mo., he advised that in view of information contained in referenced Kansas City report, he would not consider prosecution of ST 101 individuals at this time.

NOTE:

The local court actions in which attorney [REDACTED] of Hollywood is involved on behalf of BERNARD BLOOM, et al, is set forth in the body of this report for the benefit of the pertinent United States Attorneys who have indictments outstanding on all or some of the subjects of this case.

It is known from past experiences in court cases with [REDACTED] that he may use all or portions of various motions and decisions in his motions in other Districts wherein he believes that USAs do not have knowledge of the exact decisions, wording of decisions, and has, in fact, made completely false statements in his motions, both written and oral. The pertinent USAs should be confidentially advised of this tactic with a view of possibly having [REDACTED] held in contempt of court through such tactics.

LEADS:

THE ATLANTA OFFICE:

At Atlanta, Georgia:

Will contact Mrs. [] of DINERS/FUGAZY TRAVEL AGENCY, 3355 Lenox Road, N.E., telephone (404) 261-1516, in order to determine whether MIKE THEVIS and [] did accompany BERNARD BLOOM and [] on the trip to London, Paris and Athens from June 5 to June 19, 1971. b6 b7C

THE BALTIMORE OFFICE:

A copy of this report is furnished the Baltimore Office in view of associates and outlets used by THEVIS in that area wherein future leads may be directed for possible witnesses in this matter.

THE JACKSONVILLE OFFICE:

At Jacksonville, Florida

Will alert the USA to the motions for the reductions in bonds on the California subjects and possible tactics which might be expected on the part of their defense attorneys.

THE LITTLE ROCK OFFICE:

A copy is furnished the Little Rock Office in view of its current investigation on the subjects of this case which might be of assistance as to determining witnesses that might be used in the Little Rock phase of the case.

THE MIAMI OFFICE:

U. S. MAGISTRATE'S HEARINGS
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

On February 16, 1972, [] and []
[] appeared before U. S. Magistrate
RALPH J. GEFFEN, Los Angeles, California. Each were represented by Attorney [] (former Assistant United States Attorney at Los Angeles).

b6
b7C

Magistrate GEFFEN noted that certified copies of the indictment had been received from Jacksonville, Florida in which these individuals were named as defendants.

[] and [] admitted their identities and waived identity hearings. Magistrate GEFFEN advised he would prepare an order for the signature of U. S. District Court Judge MANUEL REAL, instructing the
[] to appear in the U. S. District Court, Jacksonville.
Both were continued on the bond previously posted.

On February 17, 1972, BERNARD C. BLOOM, []
and [] appeared before U. S. Magistrate JAMES J. PENNE, Los Angeles, California. All were represented by Attorney [] from the offices of [] Hollywood, California.

b6
b7C

Magistrate PENNE noted that certified copies of the indictment had been received from Jacksonville, Florida in which each of these individuals were named as defendants.
Attorney [] requested Identity Hearings for each of these six defendants.

Magistrate PENNE set March 9, 1972 at 9:30 a.m., for the Identity Hearings of these six individuals. The Magistrate to hear the cases was to be determined later.

LA 145-1134

In preparation for the presentation of this matter before the U. S. Magistrate for the Identity Hearings, the following two interviews were conducted:

PUBLICITY AND COURT MOTIONS ON SEARCHES AND SEIZURES BY THE LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT,
LOS ANGELES COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

As a result of the following item appearing in THE LOS ANGELES TIMES, a daily newspaper distributed in the Greater Los Angeles area, in their publication of February 24, 1972, pertinent motions and preliminary injunctive orders were obtained from [REDACTED] Clerk of the United States District Court, Central District of California, Los Angeles, telephone (213) 688-3652 on February 25, 1972.

[REDACTED] advised on February 25, 1972, that the item appearing in THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is misleading in that all of the material was not ordered returned, that the local authorities could retain three of each item which they planned to base their prosecutive action. Therefore, this was not judged to be illegal.

[REDACTED] further advised that the Los Angeles County District Attorney had filed a Notice of Appeal on that date both to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and with the U. S. Supreme Court.

Court Orders Films' Return

More than $1.5 million worth of allegedly pornographic movies and still pictures seized by police in two recent raids must be returned to a mail-order film business, a three-judge federal court ruled Wednesday.

The material is currently the subject of a Superior Court hearing to determine whether it is obscene. Superior Judge L. Thaxton Hanson has been viewing the films and hearing expert testimony.

However, attorney Stanley Fleishman brought suit in federal court against Police Chief Edward M. Davis, Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Busch Jr. and the raiding officers. He charged the seizure resulted from "harassment and bad faith" on the part of law enforcement officers.

The court, composed of U.S. Circuit Judge Walter Ely and U.S. Dist. Judges Jesse W. Curtis and Irving Hill, agreed.

"The censor and the illegal police raiding party are even less welcome in this country than the peddler of execrable sex materials, and with good cause," the court said in an opinion written by Hill.

The material was seized in raids Dec. 29 and Jan. 11 on Cinema Classics, Ltd., and Cal Mall, Inc., 5500 W. Pico Blvd., under warrants issued by Hanson.

Defendants.

POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN OPPOSITION TO ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE RE STAY OF ALL PROCEEDINGS

THE COURT MUST ABSTAIN

In the case of Perez v. Ledesma [1971] 401 U.S. 82, 27 L. Ed. 2d 701, four informations were filed against the defendants for displaying for sale allegedly obscene magazines, books, and playing cards. In Perez, as in the case at hand, the plaintiffs had not exhausted their state remedies, and as such the court commented that:

"The propriety of arrests and the admissibility of evidence in state criminal prosecutions are ordinarily matters to be resolved by state tribunals"

Perez v. Ledesma [1971] 401 U.S. 82, 27 L.Ed. 2d 701, 705.

The Supreme Court further commented in Perez when the Federal Court should act:

"Only in cases of proven harassment or prosecutions undertaken by state officials in bad faith without hope of obtaining a valid conviction and perhaps in other extraordinary circumstances where irreparable injury can be shown is federal injunctive relief against pending state prosecutions appropriate."

Perez v. Ledesma [1971] 401 U.S. 82, 27 L. Ed. 2d 701, 705.

There is no irreparable harm being caused to plaintiff since the harm complained of cannot be considered irreparable.

"In addition, however, the Court also made clear that in view of the fundamental policy against federal interference with state criminal prosecutions, even irreparable injury is insufficient unless it is 'both great and immediate' Certain types of injury, in particular, the cost, anxiety, and inconvenience of having to defend against a single criminal prosecution, could not by themselves be considered 'irreparable' in the special legal sense of that term. Instead, the threat to the plaintiff's federally protected rights must be one that cannot be eliminated by his defense against a single criminal prosecution."

Younger v. Harris [1971] 401 U.S. 37, 27 L.Ed. 2d 669, 677.

"Irreparable injury or damage which may be prevented by injunction includes damage 'irreparable' in the sense that it cannot be estimated by any accurate standard but only by conjecture. (citation) Such damage 'does not have reference to amount of damage caused, but rather to difficulty . . . of measuring amount of the damages inflicted.' (citation) 'An irreparable injury is one the extent of which is doubtful, making it impossible to ascertain the measure of just compensation,' (citation) and in the same case, 'where the extent of a prospective injury is uncertain, so that it is impossible to ascertain the measure of just reparation, the injury is irreparable in a legal sense, so that an injunction will be granted to prevent such an injury.'"

A situation similar to the rel plaintiff requests occurred in Norris, Inc. v. National Labor Relations Board:

"Norris, Incorporated, says that it will suffer irreparable damage if the election be held as planned and directed by the Board, and specifies a loss in excess of a thousand dollars, which it described in oral argument as incidental expenses, and further says that the normal operations of its plant will be interrupted and its employer-employee relationship interfered with and disrupted. Such expenses and damages do not constitute the sort of irreparable injury against which equity will protect in the fact of an otherwise adequate remedy at law."

Norris, Inc. v. National Labor Relations Board, et al., [1949] 177 F. 2d 26, 28.

There has been no harassment committed by defendants in the search and seizure of material complained of by plaintiff. Unlike the situation complained of in the dissent by Justice Douglas in Dyson v. Stein [1971] 401 U.S. 200, 27 L.Ed. 23 781 the activities of the defendants did not cause the plaintiffs to cease their activities since no mass seizures were involved.

The plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law to challenge the propriety of the searches and seizures in the state courts. Furthermore, the Supreme Court stated that in reference to material obtained through search and seizure:

1 "[T]hat the federal courts s^tould refuse to inter-
2 vene in State criminal proceedings to suppress the 3 use of evidence even when obtained to have been 4 secured by unlawful search and seizure."

5 Perez v. Ledesma [1971] 401 U.S. 82,
6 27 L.Ed. 2d 701, 708; concurring opinion by 7 Justice Stewart citing Stefanelli v. Minard
8 [1951] 342 U.S. 120, 96 L. Ed. 138, 142.

10 The theory of comity between federal and state courts acts 11 as another reason why the court should abstain.

13 "This underlying reason for restraining courts of 14 equity from interfering with criminal prosecutions
15 is reinforced by an even more vital consideration,
16 the notion of 'comity', that is a proper respect
17 for state functions, a recognition of the fact 18 that the entire country is made up of a union of 19 separate state governments, and a continuance of 20 the belief that the National Government will fare
21 best if the states and their institutions are left 22 free to perform their separate functions in their 23 separate ways."

24 Younger v. Harris [1971] 401 U.S. 37,
25 27 L. Ed. 2d 669, 675.

27 The fact that plaintiff contends that California Penal Co
28 Sections 1523-1542, and 311 and 311.2 are unconstitutional on its fa 29 does not in itself confer jurisdiction of the matter to the federal 30 courts for injunctive or declaratory relief.

32 "We do not think that opinion [Dombrowski v. Pfister

1. [1965] 380 U.S. 479] stands for the proposition

2. that a federal court can properly enjoin enforcement
3. of a statute solely on the basis of a showing that
4. the statute 'on its face' abridges First Amendment
5. rights . . .

6. "It is sufficient for purposes of the present case
7. to hold as we do, that the possible unconstitution-
8. ality of a statute 'on its face' does not in itself
9. justify an injunction against good faith attempts
10. to enforce it, and that appellee Harris has failed
11. to make any showing of bad faith, harassment, or
12. any other unusual circumstance that would call for
13. equitable relief."

14. Younger v. Harris [1971] 401 U.S. 37,
15. 27 L.Ed.2d 669, 681.

17. "Ordinarily, however, the practical effect of the
18. two forms of relief will be virtually identical,
19. and the basic policy against federal interference
20. with pending state criminal prosecutions will be
21. frustrated as much by a declaratory judgment as
22. it would be by an injunction."

23. Samuels v. Mackell [1971] 401 U.S. 66,
24. 27 L. Ed. 2d 688, 694.

25.
26. The fact the First Amendment rights may be involved does
27. not automatically authorize this court to accept jurisdiction.

29. "Moreover, the existence of a 'chilling effect' even
30. in the area of First Amendment rights, has never
31. been considered a sufficient basis, in and of it-
32. self, for prohibiting state action. Where a statute does not directly abridge free speech. While regulating a subject within the State's power-- tends to have the incidental effect of inhibiting First Amendment rights, it is well settled that the statute can be upheld if the effect on speech is minor in relation to the need for control of the conduct and the lack of alternative means for doing so. (citations)."

"Just as the incidental 'chilling effect' of such statutes does not automatically render them unconstitutional, so the chilling effect that admittedly can result from the very existence of certain laws on the statute books does not in itself justify prohibiting the State from carrying out the important and necessary task of enforcing these laws against socially harmful conduct that the State believes in good faith to be punishable under its laws and the Constitution."

Younger v. Harris [1971] 401 U.S. 37,
27 L.Ed. 2d 669, 680.

"From the aforementioned new decisions of the Supreme Court, we extract the following principles:

1. 28 U.S.C. § 2283 prohibits a federal district court from enjoining pending or threatened state criminal prosecutions except in extraordinary circumstances where irreparable injury can be shown. What that showing must be is discussed in detail infra. The prohibitory effect of Section 2283 has not been limited by either the Civil Rights Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1983, or the Federal

2. A federal district court may not render a declaratory judgment as to the unconstitutionality of a state criminal statute at the behest of a plaintiff who is either undergoing prosecution thereunder or is threatened with such prosecution, unless such a showing of irreparable injury is made. The effect of such a declaratory judgment is the same as that of an injunction.

3. A claim that a criminal statute being invoked by state authorities is unconstitutional on its face or as applied, is not of itself a sufficient showing to warrant intervention by a federal court in pending state criminal proceedings." Gloria Sandquist, et al., v. Peter Pitchess, et al.; Milton Luros v. Evelle J. Younger, et al., World News, Inc., et al. v. Edward M. Davis, et al.; Civil Numbers 71-393-IH, 69-432-IH, 69-2477-IH, 332 F. Supp. 171 [1971].

"Plaintiffs in each case stress that they have encountered multiple arrests and prosecutions. They point to a sentence in the opinion of the court in Younger as follows:

"There is no suggestion that this single prosecution against Harris is brought in bad faith or is only one of a series of repeated prosecutions to which he will be subjected." 401 U.S. at 49, 91 S.Ct. at 753.

"They urge that the multiplicity of the prosecutions

2 we do not agree.

4 "Where one distributes or exhibits a great number 5 of different publications or films, each of which 6 is colorably obscene, he assumes a risk of 7 multiple prosecutions and the number of arrests
8 and prosecutions he encounters cannot be deter-9 minative of whether bad-faith harassment has 10 occurred. One might agree, arguendo, that the 11 arrest and prosecution for ten straight nights of 12 the operator of a theater showing the same play 13 might constitute harassment, a misuse of the 14 criminal law to suppress the play. But, ten 15 prosecutions over a period of months against either 16 a theater-bar operator who exhibits dozens of 17 different short-length movies per day, or one who 18 distributes hundreds of separate issues or titles 19 weekly or monthly, surely cannot be equated with 20 the former situation.

22 "In each case before us, we find that the multi-23 plicity of the prosecutions falls far short of 24 constituting irreparable injury within the con-
25 cepts enunciated by the Supreme Court.
26

27 "In each case we believe considerations of comity 28 between the federal and state governments and their 29 judicial systems, and considerations of proper 30 federalism as elucidated by the Supreme Court in 31 its recent decisions, require dismissal of the action."
32 332 F. Supp. 171 [1971] at 179.

1 In the case of Thurman D. Bell v. Edward M. Davis, No. 71-1788-R, August 30, 1971, Judge Marshall L. Real of the United States District Court, Central District of California refused to grant a preliminary injunction. In that case there were searches and seizures of films and projectors and arrests of individuals on various occasions under state laws and procedures. The court stressed strongly in its questioning of the moving parties' counsel the importance of exhausting state remedies before seeking relief in Federal court.

2 On December 10, 1971, Judge Lawrence T. Lydick of the United States District Court, Central District of California wrote a Memorandum of Decision and Order in the case of Bernard H. Koomer vs. Wilbur G. Dettmar, et al., 71-1798-LTL. The facts in the Koomer, supra case, like the Bell, supra case, are similar in that searches and seizures of films and projectors occurred at various times with the arrests of individuals without prior judicial adversary proceedings. The court stated on page three of its decision that "The Court further finds that there is no proper protection which should be afforded to plaintiff which he could not secure by prompt trial in the State courts and eventual appeal, if necessary, to the United States Supreme Court." Koomer vs. Dettmar, et al., supra.

II

THE CALIFORNIA SEARCH AND SEIZURE STATUTES (CALIFORNIA PENAL CODE SECTIONS 1523-1542) ON THEIR FACE AND AS CONSTRUED AND APPLIED ARE CONSTITUTIONALLY ADEQUATE.

"It is suggested that section 1538.5 to be valid should set some time limit within which the magistrate or municipal court should commence, conclude and rule upon a special hearing, if moved for by a

1 defendant, and within which a view should be made
2 and determined . . . Under the California warrant 3 procedure, the initial consideration as to whether 4 there might be a temporary prior restraint through 5 a seizure under a warrant, although not adversary, 6 is by a judge whose duty it is to be impartial and 7 cognizant of and sensitive to the appellate rulings
8 on obscenity and First Amendment rights. In 9 California, by means of a section 1538.5 motion, a 10 very prompt adversary judicial proceeding can be 11 secured. The section sets no time lapse for notice 12 or other purpose. Conceivably the review of the 13 initial nonadversary judicial evaluation or a de 14 novo consideration can be under way within 24 hours,
15 or less, of the seizure. The section does not specify 16 a time within which the magistrate must rule, but he 17 will be aware of the prior restraint doctrine par-
18 ticularly applicable to films currently being shown 19 and of the need to rule promptly in order to be in 20 harmony therewith and not to jeopardize his ruling.

22 "Freedman [Freedman v. Maryland [1965] 380 U.S. 51, 23 13 L. Ed. 2d 649], says that a valid process 'must 24 . . . assure a prompt final judicial decision, to 25 minimize the deterrent effect of an interim and 26 possibly erroneous denial of a license [from the 27 censor]." (P. 59 [13 L.Ed.2d at p. 655].) In 28 California, the defendant in a misdemeanor setting 29 has three levels of judicial consideration. The 30 third, and what ought to be the final one, is his 31 appeal to the appellate department of the superior 32 court. It is felt, that the time within which

2 is allowed, considering that the unsuccessful de-
3 fendant has had one adversary judicial proceeding
4 already, is adequate under the elastic standards
5 promulgated by the United States Supreme Court.
6 It is also true that the possible need for a pre-7 warrant adversary proceeding or ex parte view is 8 not as pressing where only one copy of an allegedly 9 obscene film is seized which apparently was the 10 circumstance in this case . . .

12 "California's section 1538.5 hearing is a procedural 13 vehicle which allows for a very prompt adversary
14 proceeding, and is one which 'the censor' knows 15 calls for him 'to go to court.' (See Freedman v.
16 Maryland, supra, [1965] 380 U.S. 51, 59 [13 L.Ed.
17 2d 649, 655].)"

18 Monica Theater v. Municipal Court [1970]

19 9 Cal. App. 3d 1, 13, 14, 15, 16

20 Hearing by the California Supreme Court denied
21 September 11, 1970.

24 AN ADVERSARY HEARING PRIOR TO A JUDICIAL 25 DETERMINATION OF PROBABLE CAUSE FOR THE 26 ISSUANCE OF A SEARCH WARRANT IS NOT A 27 CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT.

28
29 "[W]e find no decisive pronouncements in the deci-30 sions of the United States Supreme Court that for 31 probable cause purposes a magistrate, asked to 32 issue a seizure warrant for a motion picture film,

1 st, before issuing a warrant, 1) cause to be 2 initiated and hold an adversary proceeding (which 3 probably would involve receipt of evidence on con-
4 temporary standards and customary limits of candor
5 and a view of the involved film), or (2) at least 6 view the film ex parte. (See Lee Art Theatre v.
7 Virginia [1968] 392 U.S. 636, 637 [20 L. Ed. 2d
8 1313, 1315, 88 S. Ct. 2103]; A Quantity of Books v.
9 Kansas [1964] 378 U.S. 205 [12 L. Ed. 2d 809, 84 S. Ct.
10 1823]; Marcus v. Property Search Warrant [1961]
11 367 U.S. 717 [6 L. Ed. 2d 1127, 81 S. Ct. 1708].) Two 12 California cases bear on the point. The first is 13 Flack v. Municipal Court, supra, 66 Cal. 2d 981.

15 "It alluded to the matter in a footnote and left
16 it open. We feel that by its use of the word 17 'feasible' in the much publicized footnote the 18 Supreme Court meant that it might be found that 19 carrying out such an advance adversary proceeding 20 or taking such an ex parte view of the film would 21 be so generally feasible that it would be warranted 22 in setting up a decisional rule that one or the 23 other procedure be a prerequisite to the issuance 24 of a seizure warrant. The second case is People v.
25 de Renzy, 275 Cal. App. 2d 380 [79 Cal. Rptr. 777].
26 It stands for the proposition that such pre-warrant 27 actions are not a prerequisite to the issuance of 28 a warrant directed for the seizure of an allegedly 29 obscene motion picture film. We agree that the 30 final conclusion expressed in de Renzy, but chiefly 31 because it is our feeling that an adversary proceeding
32 and view of the film are promptly and readily obtainable

1 after the issuance of a warrant through the medium
2 of a section 1538.5 motion . . .

4 "It is suggested that a pre-warrant adversary pro-
5 ceeding is necessary in order that the magistrate
6 may receive evidential information relating to the 7 contemporary standards which the average person
8 (somehow to be identified by the magistrate) would 9 be deemed to apply in determining if the predomi-
10 nant appeal of the film is to a shameful interest
11 in nudity and sex, and if the method of that appeal 12 goes beyond the customary limits of candor in 13 representation. Such information can be included
14 in the affidavit offered in support of the request 15 for a warrant. Moreover, we feel that at the 16 probable cause level a magistrate, certainly one
17 serving in an area as exposed to the broad scope 18 of the entertainment media as West Hollywood, would 19 know by what standards the law requires allegedly 20 obscene material to be gauged, would have some 21 knowledge about contemporary standards and custom-
22 ary limits of candor, and would apply such knowledge 23 when evaluating fact recitals in an affidavit. We 24 also feel that for purposes of probable cause an 25 adequate word depiction of the various episodes in 26 a film, both as to sight and sound, can be set out 27 so that the appropriate evaluation can be made."

28 Monica Theater v. Municipal Court [1970] 9 Cal.
29 App. 3d 1, 13, 17. Hearing by the California
30 Supreme Court denied September 19, 1970.

32 In the case of People v. de Renzy [1969] 275 Cal. App.2d 380,

1 the question of prior adversary hearing was discussed.

3 "If the rule argued for by de Renzy be the law, then 4 California's law enforcement authorities, under 5 circumstances as here exist, are faced with a curious 6 dilemma. They are permitted by the state and federal 7 Constitutions, and directed by statute, to enforce 8 the state's obscenity laws. On the other hand they 9 may not seize alleged obscene material, even under 10 a search warrant, without a prior adversary proceed-
11 ing. Any court process designed to compel production
12 of the questioned material would obviously impinge
13 upon the possessor's Fifth Amendment rights. (See 14 Boyd v. United States, 116 U.S. 616, 634-635 [29 15 L. Ed. 746, 752-753; 65 S.Ct. 524].) Thus, although 16 seizure of obscene material is conditioned upon a 17 prior adversary hearing, the state would be without 18 power to produce the evidence essential to that 19 hearing. This result is unreasonable and should 20 be avoided. We recognize that there may be circum-21 stances where, by fortuity, obscene matter may be 22 produced by the state without need of search or 23 seizure or court process, e.t., books offered for 24 public sale. In such cases any seizure without 25 prior adversary proceedings obviously would be 26 constitutionally impermissible. But we do not 27 believe that enforcement of a vital state criminal 28 statute must necessarily rest upon some chance 29 windfall of evidence . . .

30
31 "Nothing is found in Metzger [Metzger v. Percy 32 [1968] 393 F.2d 202], Books [A Quantity of Books

1 7. Kansas [1964] 378 U.S. 205, 2 L.Ed.2d 809], or 2 Marcus [Marcus v. Search Warrant (1961) 367 U.S.
3 717, 6 L.Ed.2d 1127], that condemns a narrow, dis-
4 criminating seizure, under a search warrant issued
5 upon a reasonable finding of probable cause there-
6 for by a magistrate, of so much obscene material
7 as is reasonably necessary for a later adversary
8 proceeding. Indeed, even in Metzger we find 9 recognition of the need, and the right, of a state 10 to obtain such amount of obscene material as is 11 necessary for the adversary hearing. The appellate 12 court pointed out (without discussion of the 13 obvious Fifth Amendment problem involved) that 14 after the trial court had ordered return of the 15 improperly seized film, it nevertheless directed 16 Metzger, upon the prosecutor's request, to surrender 17 one print of the film 'for his use in the trials of 18 . . . the criminal cases involving such film now
19 pending in the Municipal Court of Marion County, 20 Indiana.'" (393 F.2d at p. 204.)

22 "We hold that state law enforcement officers, acting 23 under authority of a search warrant, may seize at 24 least one copy of an alleged obscene book, film, or 25 other material when necessary for use as evidence
26 in a later adversary proceeding, without doing
27 violence to the First or Fourth Amendment.

28
29 "We believe this holding to be a reasonable accom-
30 modation of the constitutional right of California
31 to enforce a constitutionally valid criminal statute 32 to the demands of a federal Bill of Rights. As

1 required by Books, supra, 3 U.S. 205, 210 [12 L.Ed.
2 2d 809, 812; 84 S.Ct.1723], and Marcus, supra, 367
3 U.S. 717, 732 [6 L.Ed.2d 1127, 1136, 81 S.Ct. 1708],
4 it is 'designed to focus searchingly on the question
5 of obscenity,' and it authorizes a restrictive pro-6 cedure reasonably calculated to 'ensure against 7 the curtailment of constitutionally protected
8 expression.' (See Books, p. 210 [12 L.Ed.2d at 9 p. 812]; Banton Books, Inc. v. Sullivan, supra,
10 372 U.S. 58, 66 [9 L.Ed.2d 584, 590, 83 S.Ct.
11 631].) . . .

12
13 "California law affords a prompt and speedy remedy, 14 including an adversary hearing, for the return of 15 property improperly taken under a search warrant.
16 See Penal Code Sections 1538.5, 1539, 1540, the 17 purpose of which 'is to provide one whose property
18 is seized with a speedy remedy in a readily acces-19 sible court.' (Aday v. Superior Court, 55 Cal. 2d 20 789, 800 [13 Cal.Rptr. 415, 362 P.2d 47]; Holden v.
21 Arnebergh, 265 Cal.App.2d 87, 90 [71 Cal.Rptr.
22 401].)"

23 People v. de Renzy [1969] 275 Cal. App. 2d
24 380, 384, 386, 387, 388.

25 Hearing denied by California Supreme Court,
26 September 24, 1969.

28 The opinions of the California Courts are further supported 29 in two decisions of this District Court. In Pinkus v. Arnebergh
30 [1966] 258 F.Supp. 996 at 1003, and Schackman v. Arnebergh [1966] 258
31 F. Supp. 983 at 993, the District Court in identical language made 32 the following determinations:

1 "That no statute of California requires a judicial
2 determination of obscenity as a condition precedent
3 to the institution in good faith of a complaint
4 and/or arrest for violation of the state obscenity
5 laws, nor is such requirement found in the First 6 or Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of 7 the United States.
8

9 "That the procedures provided by California law for 10 the arrest and prosecution of persons charged with 11 violation of California Penal Code, Section 311.2
12 and which procedures were followed by respondents
13 and each of them do not and did not abridge or deny 14 to petitioner any of the rights, privileges or 15 immunities secured to him by the Constitution of 16 the United States, nor deny to him due process or 17 equal protection of the law, nor deprive petitioner
18 of any of his civil rights."

20
21 In Milky Way Productions, Inc. v. Leary [1969] 305 F.Supp.
22 288, a three-judge court discussed the applicability of a prior adver-
23 sary proceeding in cases dealing with pending obscenity prosecutions:

24 "A 'prior restraint' is also effected, plaintiffs 25 say, when arrests are made--particularly multiple 26 arrests for promoting the same publication--because 27 this inhibits others from continuing to distribute 28 the materials. And so, the argument concludes, 29 there must be an adversary hearing and judicial 30 determination preceding the inception of the 31 criminal process.
32

1 "It is of interest in this connection, if by no
2 means decisive, that plaintiff's theory, if ac-
3 cepted, would have invalidated both federal and 4 state convictions under obscenity statutes which 5 have in the recent past been upheld by the Supreme 6 Court. Ginsberg v. New York, 390 U.S. 629, 88 S.Ct.
7 1274, 20 L.Ed.2d 195 [1968]; Mishkin v. New York, 8 383 U.S. 502, 86 S.Ct. 958, 16 L.Ed.2d 56 [1966];
9 Ginzburg v. United States, 383 U.S. 463, 86 S.Ct.
10 942, 16 L.Ed.2d 31 [1966]. A point of greater 11 importance, both as a matter of legal history and 12 practical judgment, is the fact that the prior ad-13 versary proceeding plaintiffs demand would not 14 serve to eliminate either the 'chill' or the 'prior 15 restraint' against which they contend. It does not 16 appear that there were any arrests in the present 17 cases before a judicial officer had scrutinized the 18 materials and determined that warrants should issue.
19 All that, like the proceedings of a grand jury, was 20 accomplished ex parte--without either the possible
21 benefit to the accused or the potentially 'chilling'
22 effect, upon others of adversary proceedings. The 23 result, at least in terms of history, is to avoid 24 any traditional form of 'prior restraint' because 25 the first overt impact upon the allegedly protected 26 area comes at a time when all the protections and 27 favorable presumptions of the criminal process are 28 available to the defendant. Cf. Near v. Minnesota, 29 283 U.S. 697, 713-714, 51 S.Ct. 625, 75 L.Ed. 1357
30 [1931]."
31
32

"The net effect of those expressions suggests that

1 traditional criminal prosecutions, with their pro-
2 cedural safeguards, are surely permissible, and 3 very possibly preferred, vehicles for enforcing 4 bans against obscenity."

6 "At any rate, we find no warrant in the First
7 Amendment or the cases that give it full meaning 8 for compelling the radical change plaintiffs seek 9 in state (and, presumably, federal) criminal
10 procedures affecting obscenity cases."

11 Milky Way Productions, Inc. v. Leary [1969]
12 305 F. Supp. 288, 296, 297, affirmed per curiam, 13 February 27, 1970, 25 L.Ed.2d 78.

15 The California Supreme Court in Footnote (13) in Flack v.
16 Municipal Court [1967] 66 Cal.2d 981, 993 commented on the advisabil-17 ity of a prior adversary proceeding. The court stated that:

18 19 "No warrant being involved here, we have none to 20 evaluate and thus do not reach the problem of 21 determining the necessary content of a warrant.
22 Nor do we here ascertain whether it is feasible
23 for the magistrate to examine the allegedly 24 offending film or hold an adversary proceeding 25 prior to issuing a warrant, as suggested by 26 four justices in A Quantity of Books v. Kansas 27 [1964] supra, 378 U.S. 205."

29 The case of Demich v. Fardon 426 F.2d 643 (9th Cir. 1970)
30 was the only Court of Appeals decision requiring a prior adversary 31 hearing by which this court could conceivably have been bound. That 32 case was vacated by the United States Supreme Court in light of the

1 recent "abstention" decisions. (28 L.Ed.2d 528, 1971) The thrust of 2 the Demich vacation in conjunction with the language in Perez v.
3 Ledesma, [1971] 401 U.S. 82, 27 L.Ed.2d 701, is basically that the 4 propriety of a prior adversary hearing in obscenity cases is not the 5 type of dispute which federal injunctive intervention can be predicate
6 upon. Perez v. Ledesma, supra, makes it clear that federal injunctive
7 intervention is proper only in cases of proven harassment and bad 8 faith and is not a device by which to test the constitutionality of 9 state criminal procedures. As stated in Bates v. Dickson, 226 F. Supp.
10 983 [1964] p. 993-994:

12 "As to the conflict between the circuits . . . In 13 spite of the conflict the question is no longer
14 open to interpretation by this Court, being bound 15 by the decision of the Court of Appeal for the 16 Ninth Circuit."

18 Jackson v. Trans World Marine Corporation, 296 F.Supp. 1396 [1969]
19 p. 1398 states:

20
21 "While the Supreme Court in a proper case might 22 choose the Ninth Circuit rule, I am bound in spite
23 of Circuit conflicts by the holdings in the 5th
24 Circuit"

25 In essence, Bates, supra and Jackson, supra state that a District Court 26
28
29
30
31
32

1 is bound only by the decisions of the United States Supreme Court or a
2 decision issued in the Circuit in which that District Court sits.

ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY
INJUNCTION

BEFORE WALTER ELY, CIRCUIT JUDGE

AND JESSE W. CURTIS AND IRVING HILL, DISTRICT JUDGES

IRVING HILL, DISTRICT JUDGE:

Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Injunction filed January 17, 1972, was heard by the members of a three-judge Court on February 4, 1972. Appearances were:

For Plaintiffs: [redacted] Esq. b6

For Defendants Busch, [redacted] b7C

[redacted] and [redacted]

[redacted] Los Angeles

County Counsel, by [redacted]

[redacted] Esq., Deputy County

Counsel, and

For Defendants Davis, [redacted] and [redacted]

[redacted] City Attorney of Los Angeles, by [redacted]

Esq., Deputy City Attorney.

The Court heard argument on the said motion and has considered the various documents and affidavits filed in support of the motion and in opposition thereto, and has determined to grant Plaintiffs a preliminary injunction, the terms of which are specified hereinafter.

All findings of fact and conclusions of law herein made are made only on the basis of the facts as they now appear to us and without prejudice to the urging of contrary facts and legal conclusions at the trial of the case.

"Plaintiffs are five corporations which appear to be interconnected to some degree through common officers and directors. All are housed in a single place of business on Pico Boulevard in Los Angeles. They are engaged in various aspects of the publication and distribution of sexually oriented materials including motion pictures, books, magazines, playing cards, etc. They sue various officials

1 and law enforcement officers of Los Angeles County including
2 its District Attorney, Sheriff, a Deputy District Attorney
3 and a number of Deputy Sheriffs. They also sue the Los 4 Angeles City Police Chief and two of his officers. The 5 complaint asserts a number of grounds of federal juris-6 diction including (1) the Civil Rights Acts, 42 U.S.C.
7 §1983ff., and (2) the unconstitutionality of Sections
8 1523-1542, inclusive, of the California Penal Code. These 9 latter statutes govern both the issuance, service and 10 execution of search warrants and the post-execution remedies
11 for the suppression or return of improperly seized materials.

12 The action arises out of two separate searches
13 and seizures which occurred at the premises jointly occupied 14 by the Plaintiffs, one on December 29, 1971, and the other 15 on January 11, 1972. The first was carried out by the 16 Defendants employed by the City of Los Angeles and the 17 second by Defendants employed by the County.

18 Before making ultimate findings of fact concerning 19 these seizures and applying the law to those ultimate 20 findings, it is appropriate to set forth in some detail the 21 facts surrounding each seizure as the facts now appear.

22 The December seizure was made pursuant to a 23 warrant issued by a Judge of the California Superior Court.
24 There is no indication that he was shown any of Plaintiffs'
25 materials before signing it. It authorized "entry into 26 the . . . business building [occupied by the Plaintiffs]
27 including all rooms, attics, basements and other parts
28 therein, the surrounding grounds and any out buildings
29 attached or unattached, located thereon."

30 The warrant authorized the seizure of all motion
31 picture films, all still pictures and any undeveloped film 32 and negatives "in quantity which would show the intent for

1 ale and distribution" and which depicted "acts of oral 2 copulation, masturbation, sexual intercourse, sodomy or 3 sexual acts between humans and animals." It directed
4 entry into "all storage areas, desks, filing cabinets
5 and safes or any containers, where such films, pictures,
6 negatives and undeveloped film may be found." It further
7 directed the seizure of "any business records, cancelled
8 checks, receipts showing the sales or distribution or 9 payment of processing films and payment to people partici-
10 pating [therein]."

11 The only affidavit upon which the warrant was 12 issued was one made by a police officer, Defendant [redacted] b6
13 The affidavit does not claim that the affiant obtained any b7C
14 film or picture by purchase or otherwise from Plaintiffs.
15 It does not claim that the affiant had viewed any film or 16 picture originating with Plaintiffs. It asserts that 17 twenty-seven titles of motion pictures were seized from 18 another location in a neighboring city twelve days earlier, 19 which films were "believed" to have come originally from 20 Plaintiffs' premises. It says that said films had been 21 viewed by a Municipal Judge who stated that in his opinion 22 the films were obscene. The affiant attached to his 23 affidavit some order forms which he said were those of 24 Plaintiffs although they show an entirely different 25 address thereon. Each order form is accompanied by a number 26 of still pictures, purportedly one frame from each of 27 several films. In each case, the one frame shows a 28 copulative act of two, three or four persons. There is 29 no description of the films involved anywhere in the 30 affidavit except the titles given to them on the order
31 form. Typical of these titles are "#42 Young Girl is Raped
32 by Two Men, Shocking," "#43 Black Rape. Black Man and a

1 "nde," "#46 a Young Girl Makes 2 with a Shetland Pony."

2 The warrant was served in an unannounced
3 expedition consisting of approximately eleven police officers
4 who were on the premises about eight hours and apparently 5 arrived with trucks. In a news story one of the supervising 6 police officers is quoted as boasting that the police took 7 possession of "still and motion picture film valued at more 8 than $1.5 million . . ."

9 There are some disputes of fact dealing with minor
10 matters in the affidavits furnished to us. But certain 11 facts are clearly established. The officers executing the 12 warrant seized and took approximately 13,000 reels of 13 motion picture film, including the master negatives of 14 four films. Up to 500 copies of the same film were seized.
15 All of the motion picture films on the premises were 16 seized and none was left. Plaintiffs claim that the officers
17 did not view any of the films prior to seizing them. Giving 18 maximum credibility to the affidavits of the police, it
19 appears that, at most, only random and cursory attempts
20 were made to determine whether the materials seized conformed 21 to the specification of the warrant ^{1/} and that most of the 22 films seized were not viewed at all.

23 The approximately 25 employees on the premises
24 were kept standing in a single small room estimated to be 25 eight feet by ten feet for about 45 minutes. Purses of 26 women employees were examined. Papers, records and documents, 27 including metered and sealed mail, were seized, apparently 28 without prior examination, and thrown at random into 29 boxes and carried away. The Secretary of one of Plaintiff
30 corporations says that "virtually all of its business 31 records necessary for the conduct of its business" were 32 taken. And this claim is not denied.

1 While the operation was going on, representatives
2 of the various communications media, including persons
3 with radio and television equipment, came to the premises
4 to describe and take pictures of what was happening.

5 This massive seizure took place more than six
6 weeks ago. No arrest has yet been made of any person
7 resulting from this seizure nor has any criminal case
8 apparently been commenced as a result thereof. The city
9 authorities have not compiled, or at least have not yet
10 supplied us, an intelligible inventory of the materials 11 seized.

12 Now to the facts of the second seizure. On 13 January 11, 1972, thirteen days after the first seizure, 14 a different set of law officers appeared armed with a 15 different warrant. The officers who appeared were 16 approximately ten deputy sheriffs of the Los Angeles
17 Sheriff's Department, accompanied by a Deputy District
18 Attorney. The warrant was one issued by a Municipal Court
19 Judge. The warrant was quite limited in the description 20 of what could be seized thereunder. It permitted the 21 seizure of "eight millimeter color and or black and white 22 films which are sexually oriented and which depict specific 23 acts of oral copulation, sexual intercourse and masturba-
24 tion together with any or all brochures and any advertising
25 matter describing said films and any or all said blanks, 26 business forms and other business records which might tend 27 to show the identity of the operator of the business . . ."

28 We have not been furnished with any affidavit
29 which underlies the said warrant. As far as we know, there 30 was none. But we do have the affidavit of Deputy Sheriff 31 [redacted] who apparently procured the issuance of the 32 warrant. He states that the warrant was based upon his

b6
b7c

1ving ordered and received one film for $40 which he
2 characterizes as "hard-core pornography" but does not 3 otherwise describe. He says that he received, with the 4 film, eight brochures containing "many photographs of 5 actual sexual acts." The brochures, Nottingham alleges,
6 also offered various printed materials and sexual appliances
7 for sale.

8 The officers took about four and one-half hours to 9 execute this warrant. They seized approximately 3,900 reels
10 of motion picture film and over 100,000 brochures. Plaintiffs 11 claim that their entire stock in trade was taken both as to 12 films and other printed material. Defendants do not deny 13 taking all of the films on the premises. They have furnished
14 us an inventory showing that dozens and in some instances
15 hundreds of copies of given films were taken. Defendants 16 claim to have left some brochures on the premises.

17 The officers went beyond the language of the 18 warrant and also seized about 16,000 still photographs, 19 about 1,250 packs of playing cards, all of the same printing,
20 and thousands of transparencies and negatives. In addition,
21 there was seized what Plaintiffs describe as all of the 22 insurance policies, tax returns, payment records,
23 accounts receivable and payroll records, W-2 forms, 24 copyright certificates, ledgers and all other records on 25 the premises connected with any of the businesses housed 26 there. As Plaintiffs' affidavits put it, the seizure of 27 business records on this occasion involved the seizure
28 of papers and documents indiscriminately from filing 29 cabinets and desk drawers with them being thrown into 30 boxes "without any effort being made to determine what was 31 being seized or to make any record of what was seized."
32 Defendants' affidavits, especially those of Deputy Sheriff

1 [redacted] and Deputy Sheriff [redacted] who directed the 2 operation, do not really deny these claims. Mr. [redacted]
3 claims that the only records that were seized were those 4 that "show on their face they have something to do with 5 the business . . ." He admits to seizing employee records 6 because he "felt because of the nature of plaintiffs'
7 business employees could be charged with violations . . ."
8 of the California laws.

9 Not only was there no real examination of the 10 business records seized, it is evident that there was no 11 real examination made of the pictorial material which was 12 seized. Some still pictures were viewed, apparently very 13 few. No films were exhibited on a projector before 14 seizure. In a few instances, a few feet of film was 15 examined with a magnifying glass.

16 There has been only one arrest as a result of the 17 second seizure, namely the arrest of the President of one 18 of the Plaintiff corporations. He has been charged with 19 one misdemeanor count under California Penal Code §311.2.

20 Now to the ultimate facts found. The only apt 21 description of each seizure is to term it a raid. What 22 occurred is reminiscent of the big-city raids on 23 speakeasies and bootleg distilleries as they are described 24 in the movies and literature of the Prohibition Era.
25 These raids and seizures were undertaken for the twin 26 purposes of putting Plaintiffs out of business^{2/} and 27 censoring and preventing the circulation of great quantities
28 of sexually oriented, pictorial materials. The seizures, 29 and each of them, involve harassment and bad faith on the 30 part of Defendants. Plaintiffs will be irreparably injured
31 and will suffer great and immediate harm if the material 32 seized (less what is reasonably necessary to be retained

1. evidence of possible criminal conduct) is not promptly,
2. returned to them.

3. LEGAL DISCUSSION

4. Plaintiffs make two contentions which we mention
5. only in passing. They argue that a seizure is per se
6. unconstitutional when made pursuant to a warrant as generally
7. worded as the warrants used in the instant case. Plaintiffs
8. contend that the warrants contain no specific identification
9. of the items to be seized and were issued without either
10. of the issuing Magistrates having seen any of the materials
11. to be seized. Plaintiffs point out that the general wording
12. used in these warrants would permit the seizure, en masse,
13. of material which well might fall outside any accepted
14. definition of obscenity. They contend, for instance, that
15. not every visual representation of human sexual intercourse
16. is obscene, citing United States v. 33 MM. Motion Picture
17. Film, 432 F.2d 705 (2nd Cir. 1970). Yet, they argue, the
18. language of the warrant would permit the seizure of any
19. and all such visual representations. Secondly, Plaintiffs
20. argue that even if the language of the warrants is consti-
21. tutionally proper, the actual seizures made on each occasion
22. were substantially in excess of the property described in
23. the warrants and thus became unconstitutional seizures.

24. These contentions of Plaintiffs involve us in
25. gray areas of the law, areas in which we have no clear
26. guidance from higher Courts. Therefore, we do not rest
27. our decision on either contention and will not discuss
28. either contention further. We can and do decide the matter
29. on other grounds.

30. Under existing decisions, the material in question
31. in this case is presumptively within the protection of the 32. First Amendment. A mass seizure of such material, without

1 a prior adversary hearing and a determination therein that 2 the material is obscene, constitutes a prior restraint on 3 the circulation of presumptively protected material and,
4 as such, violates the federal Constitution. A Quantity
5 of Books et al v. Kansas, 378 U.S. 205 (1964); Potwora
6 v. Dillon, 386 F.2d 74 (2nd Cir. 1967); Metzger v. Percy,
7 390 F.2d 202 (7th Cir. 1968); cf. Marcus v. Search Warrant,
8 367 U.S. 717 (1961); Bantam Books, Inc. v. Sullivan, 372
9 U.S. 58 (1963). See Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1964);
10 Dyson v. Stein, 401 U.S. 200, 204 (1971) (concurring 11 opinion of Mr. Justice Brennan). The proper remedy for 12 such illegal action, and, indeed, the only feasible way 13 to undo the effects of an illegal prior restraint on 14 circulation, is to return the material seized or, at mini-
15 mum, to return it less a small amount needed as evidence 16 of possible criminal violations. Potwora v. Dillon, supra;
17 Metzger v. Percy, supra; cf. G.I. Distributors, Inc. v.
18 Murphy, 72 Civ.95 (S.D.N.Y. January 19, 1972); see In Re
19 Louisiana News Co., 187 F.Supp.241 (E.D.La. 1960).

20 We do not mean to say that a prior adversary hearing 21 is necessary before seizure of a small quantity of 22 allegedly obscene material, i.e., a quantity reasonably 23 necessary for use as evidence of possible criminal viola-
24 tions. Whether or not a prior adversary hearing is required
25 in such cases is, at least in our Circuit, a moot question^{3/} 26 on which we may soon receive further guidance from the 27 United States Supreme Court in a case pending before it, 28 Rabe v. Washington,⁴ 79 Wash.Rep.2d 254, 484 P.2d 917 (1971),
29 cert. granted at 404 U.S. 909 (1971). But we have no
30 doubt that the requirement for such a prior adversary
31 hearing in a case of mass seizures, as enunciated in Quantity
32 of Books, supra, is still, and should be, the law. We note

1 That Quantity of Books, supra, been repeatedly cited
2 with approval by the Supreme Court since it was announced.
3 See, e.g., Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476, 486 (1964);
4 Freedman v. Maryland, 380 U.S. 51, 58 (1964); Dyson v.
5 Stein, 401 U.S. 200, 204 (1971) (concurring opinion of 6 Mr. Justice Brennan).

7 Defendants assert that they have the right to 8 retain all of the materials seized regardless of the 9 legality of the warrants or the legality or illegality of 10 the manner in which they were executed. They assert this 11 right of retention on the theory that the materials seized
12 are "contraband." This argument must be rejected. There
13 are California decisions which, in their language, equate
14 the seizure and retention of allegedly obscene materials
15 with the law as it has developed in connection with other 16 types of contraband such as narcotics, gambling para-17 phernalia, burglars' tools and intoxicating liquor. See,
18 e.g., Aday v. Superior Court, 55 C.2d 789, 800 (1961).
19 But this equation and this characterization will not stand 20 analysis. True contraband of the types mentioned can be 21 quickly and easily recognized by officers operating in the 22 field. Even as to narcotics, relatively simple field
23 tests can be made. No simple tests exist to determine 24 obscenity. Allegedly obscene materials are things used 25 for the communication of ideas and partake of First 26 Amendment characteristics far more than they do the 27 characteristics of traditional contraband. Because they 28 are presumptively First Amendment materials and are not 29 easily recognizable, the same breadth of official action
30 concerning their seizure and retention cannot be tolerated
31 as is permitted in the case of true contraband. We believe 32 the Supreme Court in Marcus v. Search Warrant, supra, has

1. implicitly rejected Defendants' argument and we reject it.

2. Defendants argue that although we regard the
3. instant seizures as unconstitutional, we should abstain
4. from acting on two separate grounds. First, Defendants
5. argue that for us to grant a preliminary injunction
6. requiring return of the material seized would violate the
7. principles announced by the United States Supreme Court in
8. Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37 (1971), and the companion
9. cases decided the same date, e.g., Perez v. Ledesma, 401
10. U.S. 82 (1971); Samuels v. Mackell, 401 U.S. 66 (1971);
11. Boyle v. Landry, 401 U.S. 77 (1971). Secondly, they argue
12. for abstention on the ground that California law, parti-
13. cularly Penal Code Section 1538.5, provides a prompt
14. and effective remedy to question the constitutionality of
15. a mass seizure and to obtain the return of the materials
16. seized if the seizure was unlawful. Therefore, they argue,
17. we should defer to the California courts. ^{4/}

18. Our action in granting a preliminary injunction
19. ordering the return of most of the material seized does not,
20. in our view, violate the principles of Younger and its
21. companion cases. Younger proscribes, except in narrow and
22. specific circumstances, the issuance of a federal injunc-
23. tion halting pending state criminal prosecutions. Our
24. injunction will have no such effect. Our injunction will in
25. no way halt, inhibit, prejudice, or handicap the state
26. in the prosecution of the one misdemeanor prosecution now
27. pending or any other prosecution that may later be commenced.
28. Defendants will be left with ample copies of each item
29. seized to use as evidence in any criminal case they may
30. choose to bring. Clearly, Defendants do not need to retain
31. each and every copy of the great mass of material seized
32. in order to prove an intent to distribute. They have

1 p. ty of eye witnesses, who can testify as to the quantities
2 seized and they must, by now, have taken ample photographs
3 and gathered other data which demonstrate the mass of the 4 material found on Plaintiffs' premises.

5 Even if the Younger rationale is somehow to be 6 extended to require abstention in cases where, as here, 7 large quantities of presumptively protected items are 8 taken and where, as here, there is no injunction or other
9 federal interference in connection with pending or future
10 state criminal prosecutions, the instant case would fall
11 outside the Younger rule. Cf. Wulp v. Corcoran, 40 L.W.
12 2494, 1st Cir. decided January 11, 1972. The Younger doc-13 trine permits federal intervention when it appears that 14 the acts of the law enforcement officials constitute bad 15 faith and harassment and where irreparable harm will result.
16 We have made just such findings here.

17 We have given much thought to the second ground
18 for abstention, i.e., the existence of Penal Code Section 19 1538.5 as a prompt and effective remedy. We are willing 20 to assume, arguendo, that the existence of a post-seizure
21 procedure for a quick and final hearing and adjudication 22 in the state courts, as to both the obscenity of the 23 material seized and the validity of the warrant and seizure, 24 might be a constitutionally valid substitute for the prior 25 adversary hearing required by Quantity of Books, supra.
26 Such an assumption carries us beyond any clear precedent 27 from the United States Supreme Court or any Circuit. But 28 even making such an assumption, under the facts of this 29 case we are unwilling to abstain and relegate Plaintiffs
30 to the remedy of Section 1538.5 because we have grave
31 doubts that the remedy therein provided is an adequate one.
32 Section 1538.5 has many of the flaws the Supreme Court

1 found in the Maryland statute in Freedman v. Maryland, 2 supra,^{5/} and few of the virtues the Supreme Court found in 3 the New York statute in Kingsley Books, Inc. v. Brown, 4 354 U.S. 436 (1956).

5 First, there is no time limit within which the 6 1538.5 hearing must be heard and decided. Without a 7 stringent time limit, the prior restraint on the cir-8 culation of presumptively protected materials cannot 9 effectively be minimized or controlled. Secondly, the 10 statute imposes no burden on the law enforcement authori-11 ties to initiate the proceeding. Thus, whether it is 12 initiated or not may well depend upon the wealth and 13 stamina of the person from whom the materials were seized.
14 Third, the burden of proving that the material is not 15 obscene, or proving any other issue raised, appears to be 16 on the victim of the seizure and not on the law enforcement 17 authorities.^{6/} In view of the important Constitutional 18 values involved, a statute imposing on the owner both the 19 burden of initiating the proceeding and carrying the 20 initial burden of proof therein may not constitute a 21 sufficiently effective remedy. See Freedman v. Maryland, 22 supra; Blount v. Rizzi, 400 U.S. 410 (1971); United States
23 v. Thirty-Seven Photographs, 402 U.S. 363 (1971); Potwora
24 v. Dillon, supra.

25 We wish to stop short of a flat unequivocal holding 26 that Section 1538.5 is unconstitutional. We recognize that 27 the statute is relatively new. Literally read, it contains 28 all of the flaws above mentioned. In a few cases, the 29 California Appellate Courts have had the opportunity to 30 construe the statute in the context of allegedly obscene
31 materials.^{7/} But those Courts have thus far made no 32 construction of the statute that would eliminate the

1 defects we have mentioned altho the cases seemed to 2 afford an opportunity for such beneficial construction of 3 the statute. In future cases the California Courts may 4 possibly remedy some of the defects mentioned above by a 5 process of statutory construction. However, it is unlikely 6 that the statute could conceivably be read to impose the 7 burden of going forward on the seizing authorities. In 8 any event, such a process of statutory construction might 9 well take a very long time. The exigencies of this case
10 are with us now. We have a duty to act expeditiously to 11 grant the limited relief we have determined must be granted
12 in this case. We decline to abstain.

13 DESCRIPTION OF PARTICULAR RELIEF TO BE GRANTED

14 The Trial Judge has already granted a temporary 15 restraining order requiring the return of all business 16 records seized, with the seizing authorities having the 17 right to make copies of those thought to have evidentiary
18 value for the purposes of any criminal case. We will grant 19 a preliminary injunction embodying the following provisions:

20 1. Return to Plaintiffs all business and personal 21 records seized by Defendants and not yet returned.

22 2. Return to Plaintiffs all sealed, first-class
23 mail which was seized.

24 3. Return to Plaintiffs all of the still photo-
25 graphs seized from Plaintiffs' premises, less three copies
26 of each photograph that Defendants believe may have evi-
27 dentiary value in connection with any pending or proposed 28 criminal proceeding. Negatives and transparencies seized 29 shall also be returned subject to Defendants' right, at 30 Plaintiffs' expense, to produce three prints of each in 31 the event prints thereof are not otherwise available. Such 32 prints shall be promptly made.

1 4. Return all decks of playing cards seized
2 from Plaintiffs' premises less three copies of each printing
3 which Defendants believe may have evidentiary value in 4 connection with any pending or proposed criminal proceeding.

5 5. Return all brochures and order forms seized
6 from Plaintiffs' premises less three copies of each
7 document which Defendants believe may have evidentiary
8 value in connection with any pending or proposed criminal 9 proceeding.

10 6. Return all motion picture films seized from 11 Plaintiffs' premises less three copies of each film which 12 Defendants believe may have evidentiary value in connection
13 with any pending or proposed criminal proceeding. Film
14 negatives shall also be returned subject to Defendants'
15 right, at Plaintiffs' expense, to produce three prints
16 thereof in event such prints are not otherwise available.
17 Such prints shall be promptly made.

18 We are also asked to enjoin Defendants from 19 conducting any further intrusions or seizures on Plaintiffs' 20 premises. We decline to do so, the threat of any such 21 future action being not clearly shown.

22 A formal preliminary injunction has been signed 23 and is ordered filed contemporaneously with the filing of 24 this Order. The Clerk is ordered to serve a copy of both 25 documents by United States mail on counsel for all parties.

26 It is appropriate to say one last word. The 27 few samples which we have seen of the material involved in 28 this case clearly exceed the boundaries of good taste.
29 We do not express any opinion on whether or not they are 30 obscene. Confronted with them, most people would probably 31 express sentiments similar to our own as to their obnoxious-32 ness. But constitutional principles are meant for the

1. protection of the unpopular and the obnoxious. If the
2. materials are found to be obscene there are adequate
3. remedies under the criminal laws of both the states and
4. federal Government to punish those responsible for their
5. circulation. But censorship in advance of such a finding
6. is not permitted. Nor is a mass police raid undertaken
7. without due process for the purpose of punishing those who
8. publish materials found hateful by a majority of the 9. citizens.

10. The censor and the illegal police raiding party
11. are even less welcome in this country than the peddler of 12. execrable sex materials, and with good cause. If such
13. activity as appears in the instant case is not promptly
14. rebuked and redressed, who will call an eventual halt,
15. and where will it be called, when the civil liberties of
16. all the citizens become more and more eroded in the name of
17. "decency?"

1. As to films, the only specific information about the examination made on the premises is furnished by the affidavit of Defendant [redacted]. He says that in "many" cases he decided to seize a film by looking at a still picture on the box containing the film. He asserts, without any proof, that in each instance the one photograph depicted "the type of activity . . . on the film."

2. The affidavit of the President of one of Plaintiff corporations alleges that a supervising officer of the Sheriff's Department told him that he would return for similar searches in the future and would "put all of the companies located at the said premises out of business." This allegation is not denied (nor admitted) in any defense affidavit.

4. We are informed that Plaintiffs have already filed a proceeding under Penal Code Section 1538.5 to obtain return of the material, although such hearing had not been held as of the date the application for preliminary injunction was argued before us.

5. It contains many of the flaws Judge Friendly found in the statute in question in Potwora, supra. We note that our decision here is essentially the same kind of limited relief Judge Friendly granted in that case.

PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

For the reasons stated in an Order entitled
"Order Granting Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary

1 "Initiation" filed this date, and on the basis of the 2 findings of fact and conclusions of law contained therein,
3 it is ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that, pending further 4 Order of this Court and pending the trial and decision of

13,000 STAG FILMS RULED OBSCENE

Motion to Give Films to Owners Denied by Judge in Differing With Federal Edict

BY PAT BRYANT

Times Staff Writer

VAN NUYS—More than 13,000 stag movies were declared obscene Friday by Superior Judge L. Thaxton Hanson who denied a motion to return the films, valued at $1.5 million, to their owners.

Hanson's finding differs with a three-judge federal court panel ruling Wednesday ordering the films returned.

Notices of appeal on the federal ruling were filed Thursday and Friday with the ninth Circuit Court and the U.S. Supreme Court before Hanson's ruling was made.

David Schacter, deputy city attorney, and Michael Dougherty of the county counsel's office said that a petition asking for a stay of the federal ruling also has been filed, so the federal injunction does not become operative until the appeal has been heard.

Jury Review

Hanson said he thought the federal judges would agree with him if they had seen the films. He directed the district attorney to bring the films to the county Grand Jury for review and possible criminal indictments.

"I want to honor the federal judges' opinion," Hanson said, "but we've spent thousands of taxpayer dollars in this court seeing the films and hearing testimony from an expert witness. Maybe if the federal court had a full hearing like ours they would have agreed with me."

Although technically Hanson is not bound to the federal decision, he said, he was obligated to obey their decision.

"But it appears to me," he said, "that handing over 13,676 reels of hardcore pornographic movies is injecting venom into the bloodstream of society."

The films, seized in police raids Dec. 29 and Jan. 11 at 5585 W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, were part of a mail-order business grossing between $4 and $5 million annually, he said.

$20 Cost for Reel

Invoices were found in the seized material for 180,000 films a year which allegedly sold for a minimum of $20 a reel.

The parties had sought return of the films both in federal court downtown and in Superior Court here. The federal decision came down 13 days after Hanson began viewing the films simultaneously in groups of up to four, and he decided to continue the case to determine their obscenity.

Because the films are judged to be obscene they automatically are contraband and therefore were legally seized by police. Obscenity, Hanson said, is not protected by the U.S. Constitution's First Amendment guaranteeing free speech.

Hanson also ruled that the police searches were legal, in contrast with the federal finding that "... the censor and the illegal police raiding party are even less welcome in this country than the peddler of execrable sex materials."

A total of 14,061 films were seized in the two searches, and Hanson, agreeing with Sgt. Henry Petroski, LAPD expert witness at the hearing, ruled that 383 of the reels were not obscene.

Massive Seizure

He said the massive seizure was necessary to prove intent to sell or distribute the movies; such a charge is a misdemeanor or, on subsequent convictions, a felony punishable by a fine up to $25,000 and one year in state prison.

Possession of obscenity or exhibiting stag movies at home is not against the law.

The federal court had called the mass seizures of film "reminiscent of the big-city raids on speakeasies and bootleg distilleries . . . of the Prohibition Era . . . for the twin purposes of putting plaintiffs out of business and censoring and preventing the circulation of great quantities of sexually oriented pictorial materials."

Disagreeing with the federal ruling, Hanson said the search became massive only because the mail-order business was extensive.

"There is no law against a massive raid," Hanson said. "That would be like permitting police to catch only guppies and let the barracudas go free."

Moral Climate

In denying the motion, Hanson said that the majority of the voters have the right to preserve the moral climate in which they live, and they have enacted a Penal Code intended to stop the source of obscene material.

The films, he said, depict close-ups of sexual intercourse, masturbation, copulation between humans and animals, both male and female homosexual acts and group sex activities.

The federal panel said that sample films they saw "clearly exceed the boundaries of good taste" but it refrained from expressing an opinion on the films' obscenity.

"Constitutional principles are meant for the protection of the unpopular and the obnoxious," the federal judges ruled, saying there are adequate criminal laws to punish those responsible for circulating obscene materials.

LAWMEN CAUGHT IN JUDGE 'WAR' OVER SEX FILMS

Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess, Police Chief Edward M. Davis, Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Busch and County Clerk William G. Sharp today were caught in a squeeze between a federal judge and a Superior Court judge and may be cited for contempt of the federal court.

Adding a bizarre note to the unusual situation was the key issue: possession of 13,500 reels of sex films.

The films were confiscated

during raids last December and January on San Fernando Valley movie makers accused of producing obscene pictures.

A three-judge federal panel ordered the films returned to the makers on the grounds the seizures were "reminiscent of big city raids on speakeasies" during prohibition and violated First Amendment rights.

One of the three judges was U.S. District Judge Irving Hill. However, Judge L. Thaxton

Hanson, of Van Nuys Superior Court, ruled that nearly all the reels were obscene after a two-week screening of the films.

He ordered the court clerk to hold them as evidence. Sharp's office has continued to hold the films.

At the request of attorneys for the film makers, Judge Hill yesterday ordered Pitchess, Davis, Busch and Sharp to show cause March 23 why they should not be held in contempt of court for not returning the reels.

Superior Court Judge Hanson was not named in Judge Hill's order, although Hanson's order to hold the films was made after the federal panel ordered them returned.

Busch, when apprised of the show cause order said:

"It would be inappropriate for me to comment on the internal file action in federal court regarding the return of porgraphic material to defendants in a state prosecution, since am a party to that action.

"We intend to continue our prosecution against purveyors of this material," Busch said. He added that must wait for the federal matter to be resolved before the state prosecution is continued.

The film makers involved Cinema Classics, Cal-Male Sales Inc., Movie-Matic, Pendulum Publishers.

3 Lawmen Facing Threat of Contempt Over Obscene Films

BY WILLIAM FARR

Times Staff Writer

Federal Judge Irving Hill ordered Los Angeles County's three top law enforcement officers Friday to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt on their refusal to turn over a large number of pornographic films.

The judge set a March 23 hearing and ordered the appearance of Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Busch, Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess and Los Angeles Police Chief Edward M. Davis.

County Clerk William G. Sharp, who has the films in his custody, also has been ordered to appear at the hearing.

The controversy revolved around 13,000 reels of movies seized by the Los Angeles Police Department Dec. 29 and Jan. 12 in raids in the San Fernando Valley.

Producers of the films have obtained an injunction ordering return of the movies but Van Nuys Superior Judge L. Thaxton Hanson has ruled that the films are obscene and should be held for evidence in an upcoming trial.

Distributors Listed

Judge Hanson made his ruling even after a three-judge federal panel issued the injunction ordering return of the films. His order came after a two-week screening of 339 reels, 337 of which he ruled were obscene.

The injunction was obtained by the movie producers and distributors — Cinema Classics, Cal-Mall, Inc.; Sees, Inc.; Movie-Matic, Inc., and Pendulum Publishers.

Stanley Fleishman, an attorney for the film makers, maintains that unless the reels are returned, Busch, Pitchess, Davis and Sharp "could be held in contempt of court."

He claims that the four officials are disregarding the order handed down by the federal panel of judges, one of which was Judge Hill himself.

The other judges were Walter Ely of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and Jesse Curtis of the federal District Court.

Busch, contacted Friday on his response to the contempt proceedings, stated:

"It would be inappropriate for me to comment on the injunctive action in federal court regarding the return of pornographic material to defendants in a state prosecution since I am a party to that action.

"We intend to continue our state prosecution against the purveyors of this material. However, since the federal court action involves material which would be evidence in our state prosecution, we must wait for the federal matter to be resolved before we can continue with our prosecution."

Indict Seattle Man For Transporting Obscene Pix Across State Lines

Seattle, Feb. 13—Larry Trambitas, a Seattle arcade operator, surrendered to deputy U.S. marshals here after being indicted by the Federal Grand Jury in Jacksonville, Fla., on charges of transporting obscene films.

Trambitas posted $10,000 bail and was released. The five-count indictment states that Michael E. Elliot, an agent for Ellwest Stereo Theatres, Jacksonville, telephoned Trambitas to "obtain his permission to order obscene films" from Peachtree National Distributors of Atlanta.

The indictment charges that four or more reels of 16mm film were moved in interstate commerce.

Trambitas is one of 12 defendants. Also named are the Ellwest and Peachtree firms and a California outfit, Cinema Classics Limited.

Result of examination:

It was determined that the paperback books referred to above as specimen Q273 emanated from the same original source as a paperback book that was submitted to the Laboratory by Las Vegas letter dated 6-11-68 and captioned [redacted] nee [redacted] dba [redacted] World News Stand, Las Vegas, Nevada; ITOM." However, because of the lack of a sufficient number of significant characteristics in the printing, a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether paperback book Q273 was printed directly from the plates used to print the paperback booklet referred to as Q383 in the [redacted] case.

A search of the Bureau's files disclosed that documents have previously been submitted to the Laboratory which have the same descriptions as those described above as specimens Q160, Q165, Q192, Q207, Q210, Q212, Q218, Q219, Q223, Q239, Q241 through Q243, Q247, and Q254. However, the previous documents have been returned and are not available for comparison with instant documents.

A search of the Bureau's files disclosed that no copies have been submitted previously to the Laboratory that have the description of those described above as specimens Q154 through Q159, Q161 through Q164, Q166 through Q191, Q193 through Q206, Q208, Q209, Q211, Q213 through Q217, Q220 through Q222, Q224 through Q238, Q240, Q244 through Q246, Q248 through Q253, Q255 through Q272, and Q274 through Q276.

Specimens Q154 through Q276 are retained in the Laboratory.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : DIRECTOR, FBI
(ATTN: FBI LABORATORY PORNOGRAPHY SECTION)

DATE: 4/18/72

FROM : SAC, ST. LOUIS (145-330) P

SUBJECT: PEACHTREE NATIONAL DISTRIBUTING CO.
ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Forwarded under separate cover are two cartons containing a total of 145 publications. The Laboratory is requested to compare these publications with previously submitted specimens and furnish St. Louis with any positive information developed.

For the information of the Bureau on 4/13/72, St. Louis Office received a telephone call from [redacted] stating that they had received 27 cartons from [redacted] Denver, Colorado for shipment to Peachtree, 240 Luckie St., N.W., Atlanta, Georgia. This shipment was to be transshipped at St. Louis, Mo. When the representative for [redacted] arrived to pick up the shipment he observed who the consignee was and thereafter refused shipment based on the fact that the material was, in all probability, pornographic. Following this refusal one of the cartons was opened and the St. Louis Office was notified. On 4/13/72, AUSA [redacted] authorized a search warrant for seizure of the entire shipment. The 145 specimens being submitted by St. Louis represents one of each magazine that was included in the shipment.
